Fire department torches house, in the name of training

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Firefighters train to put out fires the opposite way that fires work in real life. It is the flipped side of a very hot coin.

For example:

The owner of the home invites the fire department over to burn the house down.

The fire department requests a permit from the United States Environmental Protection Agency for permission to burn the house down. A permit from the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency is also required.

Fire department personnel set fires all day long as candidate firefighters train to extinguish them.

Inside the burning house, candidate firefighters sit in rooms which are on fire to watch how the room burns, then they leave. Others candidate firefighters come in and put out the fire.

When Antioch residents dial 911 to get the fire department to their home, it is possibly the most vivid encounter with their local tax dollars at work that homeowners will ever experience.

Putting out fires is also very different from what homeowners may expect.

Firefighters fight fires with high powered fans, Velcro®, technology, electrical extension cords, cell telephones, chain saws, passports, teamwork, courage, safety procedures, face-masks with their own air supply, and knowledge that comes from training.

March 1 was a quiet Sunday, except near Depot and Anita Street. Six fire departments met there with 24 candidate firefighters to train them how to extinguish fire by burning a home formerly owned by Fran and Vince Nauseda.

Firefighter candidates were from Antioch, Lake Villa, Fox Lake, Round Lake, Newport, and Long Grove.

Neighborhood residents had been told what would happen. "The firemen came and spoke to us and told us what would be happening," said Gayle Davis who lives directly across the street from the home to

Voters have three candidate choice

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Voters will face three local candidate decisions on March 17. Running for reelection is Judy Martini. She is challenged for the Republican nomination for Lake County Board District 1 representative by Michael J. Mortensen and Linda Pedersen.

Martini said that she works to represent the people, to promote the unique economy of the Chain of Lakes region, and to protect the natural resource base upon which her district is dependent for its character.

"I am seeking re-election to the County Board because District 1 is facing many serious decisions as we enter the new millennium," she said. "With the Village of Antioch projections of tripling in population by the year 2010, it is not a good time for a novice entering onto the county Board seat."

Martini presents herself as a candidate of the people and pledges to represent them. She said that she has honored her commitment to be free of the machine politics that people did not like in the district when they voted for her in 1994.

"I would like to bring to this position the quality of honest and fair representation to all the residents of District 1," said Pedersen.

"Having been very active for the past 16 years in my community, and having taken active rolls in various forms of service to my community, I feel that I am in touch with the spirit of this community and have a feel for the direction our residents would like to see us go," she said.

County public service to decisions that come before the Lake County Board.

"I am running for the county board because I believe I can make a significant contribution based on my knowledge gained in the past 28 years," he said. He cites his experience within the Lake County criminal justice system and knowledge of budget operations as a basis for views on how costs can be contained and public safety maintained.

Mortensen has pledged if elected he will not accept a salary or benefits for the position.

Linda Pedersen's impact on the District 1 area has emerged from almost two decades worth of her active volunteer investment in the community.

Bomb

Church finds bomb threat note before worship

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Evangelical Free Church officials found a note Saturday, March 7 that said a bomb would explode during the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service.

Antioch police officers, fire department personnel, and Lake County Sheriff's officers searched the building from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. to locate the bomb.

No bomb was found. On Sunday, church services were rescheduled.

"We had a one o'clock service," said Senior Pastor David Groleau. The church was vacated during the period when the bomb was to have exploded.

He said that all youth programs be burned to the ground. "It made me feel better about the whole thing," she said.

"This is a fire academy, put on by Quadrant 2 of the Lake County Fire Chiefs Association, of which Chief Paul Maplethorpe in Round Lake is the overseer," said Captain Robert Johnson of the First Fire Protection District Antioch Fire Department. He is known as BJ.

He said that firefighter candidates are organized into teams of four people with an instructor who works with them through the day.

"They will go in and they'll do search and rescue. They'll do forcible entry. They will do ventilation, which is opening the roof. They will do water supply, which teaches them how the water is laid out, how water gets to the engine, how water gets to the fire," BJ said.

Those are considered to be non-fire training events. Late in the morning, the department starts live-fire training.

"We'll set a room on fire and the students will go in and actually put that fire out. There'll be live fire in that room."

Deputy Chief Leonard Sakalowski is known as the department's "Guru Fire Setter." He arranges the room in the house for the training event, lights the fire, and then tells the trainers to come in and put it out.

Part of the training requires candidate firefighters to enter the burning room and just watch the fire build and burn. After their observation period is over, they leave the room and other candidate fire fighters come in to extinguish the blaze.

Then Sakalowski burns another room.

During the day long fire training academy, the Antioch fire station was occupied by firefighters from Wilmet, Salem, and Trevor Wisconsin. It was their responsibility to respond to all emergency calls that came to the station. By mid-morning, they had responded to two calls.

The first response was to a building in the area and a second was to secure the parking lot at Antioch Community High School. A Flight For Life helicopter had arrived to assist in a medical emergency being undertaken by the Antioch Rescue Squad.

Candidate firefighters were not the only people undergoing training. The professional fire personnel were also using the occasion to practice safety procedures that keep track of each firefighter.

"What you have here is an accountability system that we use on all fire scenes," said Richard Frankson from the incident command vehicle. A system of passports for each firefighter allowed him to know where everyone involved in the operation was located. A missing firefighter could be immediately identified in order to rescue him or her if necessary. Firefighters stick their passports on their hats or clothing with Velcro® and later attach them to clipboards to create team units as required.

"For instance, right now, our Chief (Dennis Volling) is at the high school for the Flight For Life call," Frankson said.

If necessary, using radio technology, Frankson could request team leaders to do a quick check of their personnel and immediately know if everyone is accounted for.

By late afternoon, team training sessions had been completed, and it was necessary to destroy the already severely damaged training facility. At 3:40 p.m., it was evident that the day's final fire had been set.

House fires are not one-inch flames on a candle, blue flames on a stove, or roaring logs in a fireplace. For one thing, the flames in a room on fire in a burning building tumble upon one another in a wide variety of shapes and sizes.

Some flames are like large flat sheets. Others appear as delicate lace. Some move more vigorously than do others. In some areas, the flames tumble in a swirl that feeds itself from gases created by temperatures measured as hundreds of degrees. The wind is a key ingredient.

These are the flames and the fire witnessed by many neighborhood residents who watched the home burn from across the street.

To maintain safety, the Round Lake Fire Department poured water from the end of an extended ladder through the air into the boiling smoke above the house. The purpose is to extinguish airborne cinders. They also occasionally spray the house in order to control the intensity of the burning. Within an hour, the spectacular part of the conflagration is over.

"The overall burn was safe, and that is our number one priority—safety," BJ said at the end of the day.

Pedersen awarded with Lincoln Fellowship honor

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Linda Pedersen has been awarded a 1998 Illinois Lincoln series fellowship to help her prepare for policy-making positions in government and in the Republican Party.

The fellowship includes study in Springfield, Illinois and Washington, D.C. Pedersen is one of 15 Republican women awarded the fellowship. "The Lincoln Series is fortunate that Linda Pedersen accepted our fellowship," said Republican National Committeewoman Mary Jo Arndt. Arndt serves on the board of governors of the Lincoln Series.

The Lincoln Series is sponsored by the Illinois Lincoln Excellence in Public Service Series, Inc., a non-profit political education organization.

Linda Pedersen is currently a candidate for District 1 Lake County Board representative, the position held by Judy Martini.

"It has been absolutely wonderful," said Pedersen. "I've gotten so much out of it."

The fellowship program is a series of nine seminars. Three days with national leaders and two sessions of two-days with Springfield leaders are part of the seminar series. Graduation from the program is in September at the annual Excellence Awards Dinner.

The first session was in January, according to Pedersen. The seminars prepare participants for continuing work in politics and professions associated with politics. She said what she learns at the sessions translates very well into usable experience at the community level.

"They're in different parts of the state," she said. She has an opportunity to meet people throughout Illinois.

"You have to be sponsored to apply for it," she said. "I was sponsored by Bob Churchill." Pedersen was one of sixty candidates who applied. She was among the 24 people interviewed as part of the selection process. Now she is one of the 15 selected program participants.

The Lincoln Series was founded in 1994 by the National Committeewomen's Roundtable, a unit club of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women.

Fire, Police referendum up for vote

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Village residents will vote on Tuesday, March 17 for or against a proposal to build a new fire substation east of the Wisconsin Railroad tracks and a new police station in downtown Antioch.

Village trustees voted unanimously to submit to voters the question to issue $2.5 million in general obligation bonds to build the new buildings and to purchase fire safety equipment.

Taxpayers who own a home with a $90,000 market value will pay initial taxes of $40 a year more for the improved fire and police services. That amount is expected to decrease to $26 within ten years as the village population increases with new residential and business development.

Homeowners of $120,000 homes will initially pay about $53 more per year, an amount expected to reduce each year to approximately $34 within a ten year period.

BOMB: Threat at church and meetings went on as scheduled. "So, as far as we know, it was a prank," Groleau said.

The note was found Saturday morning taped to a secretary's desk. There was no evidence of forced entry to the church building.

The hand-written note said that the "so-called church" is going down, that a bomb is set to go off at 11:45 a.m. on March 8.

"That is right in the heart of the service," said Groleau. He estimated that there might be as many as 300 people in the building at that time.

Antioch and County law enforcement officials searched the building Saturday.

"It was very thorough," Groleau said. Officers were present Sunday during services.

"I was very pleased. They handled it quickly, very professionally, and discretely," said Groleau. "I was very pleased with our local officers. They were here in a heart-beat."

Hot stacks and baked goods to benefit high school

A pancake breakfast and bake sale will be held March 22 in the Antioch Community High School Cafeteria. It is sponsored by the Student Assistance Program and the A.L.L. Parent Network. Proceeds help Student Assistance Program education programs. The A.L.L. Parent Network uses some of the proceeds to underwrite costs of the Post-prom event which they sponsor. Tickets for adults are $4 and children 4 to 12 are $2.50. Senior Citizen tickets are $3.

Solid Waste Agency of Lake County is sponsoring Timothy Wenk Magic on Monday, March 16, at 10:45 a.m. at Antioch Lower School. "The Magic of Recycling" Show is a winner of the National Recycling Coalition's award for Outstanding Public Education. The show is an educational school assembly program to teach children in kindergarten to grade 4 about recycling benefits. There is audience participation in the program. Parents who wish to attend should check with Principal Mary Kay McNeill at 847-395-0845.

Vote on March 17-support public safety

On Tuesday, March 17 Antioch voters will have an opportunity to vote to support the construction of two public safety buildings. If approved, a new fire station will be constructed east of the railroad tracks on Deep Lake Road. The cost of the station will be paid jointly by the Village and the Antioch Township First Fire Protection District. A new Police Station will be built by the Village in downtown Antioch. Neither the Village nor the District has requested a referendum since 1977. Both of these buildings are needed for our Fire and Police Depts. to continue to provide the high level of services residents have received throughout the years.

Details regarding the referendum, the histories of existing buildings, and reasons why the new facilities are needed have been widely published in newspapers, the March issue of the Village "Community Calendar," and on the Village website. However, if you would like additional information, please contact Fire Chief Dennis Volling at 395-5511, Police Chief Charles Watkins at 385-8585, Village Administrator Tim Wells or me at 395-1000.

We all can help to keep Antioch a safe place in which to live, to maintain the pride and concern we have about our Village and its inhabitants, and to maintain property values in the Village by VOTING YES ON MARCH 17 FOR PUBLIC SAFETY.

Komets hockey wins in Wisconsin

Two hockey players from Antioch helped their Kenosha Komets PeeWee C team win the Wisconsin State Hockey Championship at McFarland over the past weekend. Ben Bergmann, a fifth grader at Emmons

School, goal-tender for the team; and Matt Jorgenson, a seventh grader at Antioch Upper Grade, who plays defense, were instrumental in first helping their team win the Regional championship two weeks ago, and then State championship. While Jorgenson's defensive play was stellar in the regional playoffs, the team lost his services in the finals when he sprained a shoulder during the first period of the opening game against Mosinee. Bergmann, who has a 91 percent save average for the season, stopped 23 of 24 shots to help the Komets advance to the semi-finals.

Ben Bergmann's goal tending kept the Komets alive as he made numerous game saving stops and total of 42 saves to defeat Janesville 3-2 in double overtime in the semi-finals. Matt Smith and Kyle Anderson of Kenosha scored goals for the Komets.

The Championship game found the streaking Komets controlling Hayward 6-2, led by scores from Kenosha skaters Kyle Anderson, Chris Simonds, Scott Huennekens, and Jason Smith.

Bergmann remained solid in goal stopping 26 of 28 shots.

The Komets are coached by Izzy Rivera, Mike Hessler, and Jim Rosellini.

The Komets will host five teams from Illinois in the Kenosha Kup on March 20 and 21 at the Kenosha County Ice Arena.

W. C. Petty students Peter Scheidt, left, and Katie Hofeldt stand before a mural created to show aspects of fifth grade life.

Mural travels around town

Posters on display recently in downtown store windows were created by fifth grade students at W.C. Petty School after a semester of art classes.

"Each mural represents their home and family, community, and school and education, as well as the future," said Principal Tim Mahaffy.

The posters were placed on display at the Antioch Post Office on Orchard Street and Brans Nut Company at 935 Main Street.

"The volunteer staffed art program presents lessons to one half of the students for one semester while the others participate in the school's D.A.R.E. program," Mahaffy said.

Mortensen: experience to candidacy

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Michael J. Mortensen seeks to bring his past Lake County public service to decisions that come before the Lake County Board. Today he is working to be elected District 1 Lake County Board representative.

"I am running for the county board because I believe I can make a significant contribution based on my knowledge gained in the past 28 years," he said. He cites his experience within the Lake County criminal justice system and knowledge of budget operations as a basis for views on how costs can be contained and public safety maintained.

Mortensen intends to serve as District 1 representative as a volunteer if elected to the county board. He has pledged that if elected he will not accept a salary or benefits for the position. "I am already receiving one public pension," he said.

In December, Mortensen retired as Chief of Administrative Services for the Circuit Court. He had also served as a Probation Officer and Chief Probation Officer in Lake County. As Chief of Administrative Services he was in charge of budget operations and had knowledge of the criminal justice system, the courts, and judicial finances.

Currently he serves as Vice-President of the Antioch Public Library District Board. He has been a trustee with the library since 1989.

"One of the most serious issues facing the district is the lack of proper sewage treatment in the unincorporated areas of the district," he said.

"I believe that the property owners in the district should have a chance to vote on whether or not they would like to participate in projects to bring sewer as well as adequate water service to their areas," he said.

Mortensen recognizes the high costs to provide sewer and water services to unincorporated areas and would work to help people cope with the costs for such improvements if that were to become necessary. He thinks that 50-year financing bonds, attachments to utility lines built by developers for their projects, and even reverse mortgages for elderly people on fixed incomes could be explored for ways to make economic impacts less severe for people.

"I would work within the structure of the county board to bring this matter to referendum," he said.

Mortensen has mixed views on tax increases. "I support a gasoline tax if some of the funds are dedicated to improving and expanding public transportation," he said.

"I do not think a new (county) jail should be built without exploring alternative strategies such as day reporting and expanded pre-trial supervision," Mortensen continued.

Mortensen is a life-long Antioch resident. He is a member of the 885 Civic Club, the Antioch Moose, the Northern Illinois Conservation Club, the Lakes Region Historical Society, and is currently the Treasurer of Sequoia Lodge #827.

Mortensen attended the University of Illinois, Milton College, and Northern Illinois University. He also attended John Marshall Law school for two years, but did not graduate.

"I am known to the voters, attended Antioch public schools, and am a lifetime resident of the district," he said. "I am a serious candidate for the county board, and, if elected, I will give it my full-time effort."

Pedersen plugs for board, cites community work

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

People in Antioch Township know Linda Pedersen or know about her because of her community work. Her impact on the District 1 area has emerged from almost two decades worth of her active personal investment in the community.

Linda Pedersen now seeks election to the Lake County board as the District 1 representative to replace incumbent Judy Martini.

"I would like to bring to this position the quality of honest and fair representation to all the residents of District 1," said Pedersen.

"Having been very active for the past 16 years in my community, and having taken active rolls in various forms of service to my community, I feel that I am in touch with the spirit of this community and have a feel for the direction our residents would like to see us go," she said.

If the spirit of the Antioch area is volunteer activity, as many claim, she may be one of its strongest champions. For almost two decades, she has invested herself in activities that range from school board service to an Allendale School mentoring program to serving with an organization to identify bone marrow donors. She can speak quite directly to political issues, however.

"Growth is our biggest issue at this point. Along with growth comes traffic congestion, crowded schools and higher taxes," she said. "We need to take a step back and take a good look at the projected growth that is facing our community and ask ourselves if we realistically can handle it."

Pedersen is concerned about infrastructure capacity, the need for new schools, impacts on the environment, tax burden issues for residents, and the role for impact fees from developers. She also wants to look at incentives to attract new industries to Lake County.

She said that she would apply her own careful consideration to Forest Preserve District bond issues.

"Presently, I would not support another (Forest Preserve District) bond referendum for open space," Pedersen said. However, were county residents to favor such a referendum, she would be willing to reevaluate her position.

"I may change my position," she said. "However, I would not support all the money to be used to purchase open space. I would want to see a portion of it used for development of our preserves."

"Also, when purchasing Forest Preserve property, we need to be looking at wooded areas, wetlands, and others which are conducive to Forest Preserves."

Pedersen has received endorsements from many area political leaders.

"Of the many volunteer activities I have been involved in for the past 16 years, I have to say St. Peter's Footlights is one of my favorites," Pedersen said. "This fund raiser started in 1982 in order to raise funds to help keep St. Peter's school open. I have served on the steering committee since 1985 and have watched it grow from a parish event into a community event."

She is presently serving as President of Antioch Rotary Club. She is also a Board member of the Antioch Community Consolidated Grade School District 34 Education Foundation. The foundation is dedicated to raising funds for special programs in technology and fine arts for the district schools.

In 1986, Pedersen was a founder of the Antioch Junior Women's Club. She has been active in it ever since as a member and has served as treasurer and president.

Pedersen has continued to work with the Illinois General Federation of Women's Clubs. "This gave me the opportunity to travel the whole state of Illinois and visit with the different clubs and round table discussions and bring ideas back to our community. It's been a great experience," she recently told Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry officials.

Pedersen told Chamber officials, "I would also bring to the position strong leadership and organizational skills and the enthusiasm that I think is needed to be a quality representative of District 1."

Martini seeks re-election to board

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

County Board member Judy Martini (Dist. 1-Antioch) works to represent the people, to promote the unique economy of the Chain of Lakes region, and to protect the natural resource base upon which her district is dependent for its character. She has also invested many rewarding hours helping children at Camp Duncan YMCA.

"I am seeking re-election to the County Board because District 1 is facing many serious decisions as we enter the new millennium," she said. "With the Village of Antioch projections of tripling in population by the year 2010, it is not a good time for a novice entering onto the county Board seat."

Martini presents herself as a candidate of the people and pledges to represent them. "I have proven time and time again that my heart is with the people," she said. She said that she has honored her commitment to be free of the machine politics that people did not like in the district when they voted for her in 1994.

"They wanted a voice in their government. I have proven that I am nobody's 'yes man' and that I vote the conscience of the taxpayers," she said.

She intends to continue to represent the people. The Forest Preserve is currently polling county residents about the issue of further district acquisitions. "If the public supports further acquisitions, then I will support their wishes, and the people know I will stand by my word."

"Over 1,500 acres of open space has been acquired since I have been on the board, all through willing sellers or land donations."

Martini highlights the importance of the tourism industry to the area's economy. "Since District 1 is heavily dependent on tourism for our tax base, I have brought a certain expertise to the Lake County Board with my familiarity of the Lake County's crown jewel, the Chain of Lakes." She said that this representation had been missing previously.

"It is also imperative that I remain on the (Lake County Board's) Law and Judicial Committee to ensure the safe recreational use of our lakes and waterways since western Lake County is heavily dependent on tourism," she said.

Martini has served as a Board member of the Fox River Watershed Management Board and the Fox River Ecosystem Partnership Board. She is a member of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club. She was also the founder of ARC—Against Riverboat Casinos.

Martini is a member of the County Board's Building and Zoning Committee and the Forest Preserve District's Land Acquisition Committee.

Martini is proud to work with the county on its new Unified Development Ordinance. "I am proud to say that I helped draft the natural resource protection section of our new UDO to further protect shorelines and wetlands."

"The most fulfilling and favorite volunteer activity that I've undertaken is Director of the YMCA Camp Duncan," said Martini.

"The Burn Victim Day camp, which is put on every year at the YMCA, allows burn victim children the opportunity and freedom to play, swim, and socialize with other children facing the same challenges," Martini said.

Martini is also a member of Women of the Moose.

Antioch is a busy place

A few upcoming events you townfolks may want to be made aware of: First of all, the VFW Ladies Auxiliary is hosting a "Safety Seminar" for the elderly members of Antioch and its surrounding communities. What this is going to entail is a presentation sponsored by Ameritech Phone Co. and presented by Randy Freeman. Mr. Freeman will be discussing the many advantages of owning a cellular phone.

Once thought of as a novelty for those who wanted to feel important, cellular phones are now a major safety feature being carried in many cars and pocketbooks. People feel an amazing sense of security with this new modern convenience tucked safely away in the event an emergency arises. With all the country roads beckoning our cars out here in Lake County, it always seems we find ourselves facing an abandoned stretch of highway when "old Betsy" decides to act up or one of the tires pops like a balloon hit by a pin.

Just think how much quicker your anxiety will subside when you can simply reach over, dial a number, and know that help will soon be on its way. Ameritech will be offering a special rate for any adult who is 50 years of age or older. This will include a free phone with free activation and a low monthly service fee of only $11.95.

All folks who are 50 years of age or older are invited to attend the seminar which will be held on Wednesday, March 18, at 3 p.m. at the VFW Post, 75 North Ave., Antioch. For any further information you can call Dorthee at 395-6934. The VFW Ladies Auxiliary hope to see you there.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

The second event which will be here before you know it is the next session of Country Line Dance lessons offered by the Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. The new eight week session begins Wednesday, April 8. Classes will be held in the gymnasium at Grass Lake School from 7 until 8:30 p.m. Lessons are open to either gender and anyone 12 years of age and on up.

As long as you are up and taking nourishment, the instructor will shuffle you around the floor and show you where you need to be and which limb you should be shaking. The lessons are a load of fun with some really swell folks taking part. And don't forget, before you know it the winter blahs will be replaced with the summer swelters and what better way to trim down that winter tummy than a little exercise.

Advanced registration is required and may be done at the Parks and Recreation Dept. which is located in the Village Hall at 874 Main St. in beautiful downtown Antioch. For more information you may call the Parks Director, Laurie Stahl at 395-2160 or the old retired Lizard at 395-5380.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Two District #34 teachers needed

Increasing enrollment and larger class sizes have created a need for two new teachers in Elementary School District #34. The positions are to be filled as soon as personnel are found.

One teacher will be assigned to W. C. Petty School and one to Antioch Upper Grade School.

"We realized that we definitely needed to add teaching staff for next year, but it was also clear to us that the need was just as valid right now," said School Board President Dr. Earl "Bud" Newton.

"Essentially, we simply decided to add the new teaching staff a few months earlier in order to reduce some large class sizes now," he said.

The Antioch C.C. District #34 Elementary School Board approved creation of two new classroom teaching positions at its regular February meeting. The positions will address increasing student enrollments and larger class sizes at both schools.

Newton said that the need for additional teachers due to increasing school enrollments is a condition that the district will face for the next several years.

Talking Health

PROPER BENDING & LIFTING

You have spent all day Saturday dragging boxes down from the attic in preparation for a garage sale. At the end of the day you find yourself unable to straighten up. Your back seems to have congealed into a strange and painful "S" shape. This may be the result of using your lower muscles when you were lifting and bending. Improper bending and lifting, especially when you are tired, can result in painful back problems.

Using proper techniques when picking up and carrying things can mean the difference between a painful and a pain-free back. You should use your knees and leg muscles to lower the body when you are stooping or lifting objects, especially when you are tired.

Your chiropractor can show you the proper ways to bend and lift and can also recommend specific exercises to increase the strength and flexibility of your spine and the lower back.

If maintaining your health and reducing stress is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Dr. Reiser has served the Lake and McHenry County area for over 10 years. Let his knowledge and experience serve you. ### Three-pointers give reporter hoop hopes

For many a basketball fan, March Madness is the time of year. In most years, the best teams rise their level to play at Northwestern University's super-sectional with a chance at Elite Eight status at stake. Every once in awhile, a Cinderella team has a chance, but not since 16-team seeding.

For me, one of the most pressure-filled but enjoyable moments is the three-point shoot at Warren Township High School.

The past few years, I have been fortunate enough to be able to participate in such a shootout.

Before the Feb. 28th event, it was time to ask an expert about three-point shooting, Warren's Chuck Breuscher.

"It is all about confidence—thinking you can make it. If you square up, you can feel like you will make it," he said.

Breuscher should know.

His three-point talents have attracted box-and-one defenses. He has been shooting three's since his dad extended the driveway and earlier at his Warren Township home.

Breuscher and the rest of the Blue Devils were working hard to guard against a first-round let-down such as last year when Carmel almost upended them.

"We don't have many people back from last year, so we remind them of what could happen. We looked past Carmel last year," said Breuscher.

By the way, he was schooled in the trey by Darnel Foster and Joel Dangel.

WTHS entered the post-season party winners of six-of-eight and seeded second to mighty Zion-Benton. Wauconda was the first-round foe for Warren.

Anyway, Saturday came at the new Almond Road gym. After all, the players—mostly reserves, had their say, and starters shot, long range for fun, it was my turn.

I nervously approached the first rack, five and one-half months after a foot injury sidelined this would-be player. After one on the first rack, I made two from the top-of-the-key. My biggest obstacles: the 45 second clock (ably kept by Ron Krapf), and the three-point line must be growing as I get older.

It was a 3-of-15 day. Not anything to notify the Bulls about, but I did beat one player, whom we will not embarrass. It was the second-best attempt in four years, though.

As in warm-ups earlier in the week, one basketball coach suggested it would be best to stick with the notepad and computer.

There was some success on the court that week. With a witness on hand, I made 28 straight free throws. The key: fading to your left.

Antioch wins regional title

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

The Antioch boys basketball team achieved one of its goals last week, winning the Regional title and advancing to the semi-finals of the Waukegan Sectional. The Sequoits outlasted the Libertyville Wildcats in a 65-62 overtime thriller.

"Going into the season, I gave my goals to the kids, and so far we've gotten one of them," said Antioch coach Jeff Dresser.

The Sequoits were a pretty consistent team all year—that is, as soon as Chris Groth recovered from an early-season foot injury.

Groth led the team with 23 points, including two key free throws in the extra period.

Antioch began the game with a strong first quarter, both on the offensive and defensive ends of the floor. The Sequoits led 14-11 after one period.

But the Wildcats stormed back, climbing their way up to a 44-39 lead entering the fourth quarter, thanks to big buckets by Brian Hamlett (19 points) and 6-7 center Jim Oboikowitch (17 points, 12 rebounds).

In overtime, the two teams battled tough for the entire four-minute period. After a free throw by Groth to make the score 62-59, Libertyville's junior guard Ryan Schreen calmly nailed a three-pointer to tie the game with under 30 seconds left to play.

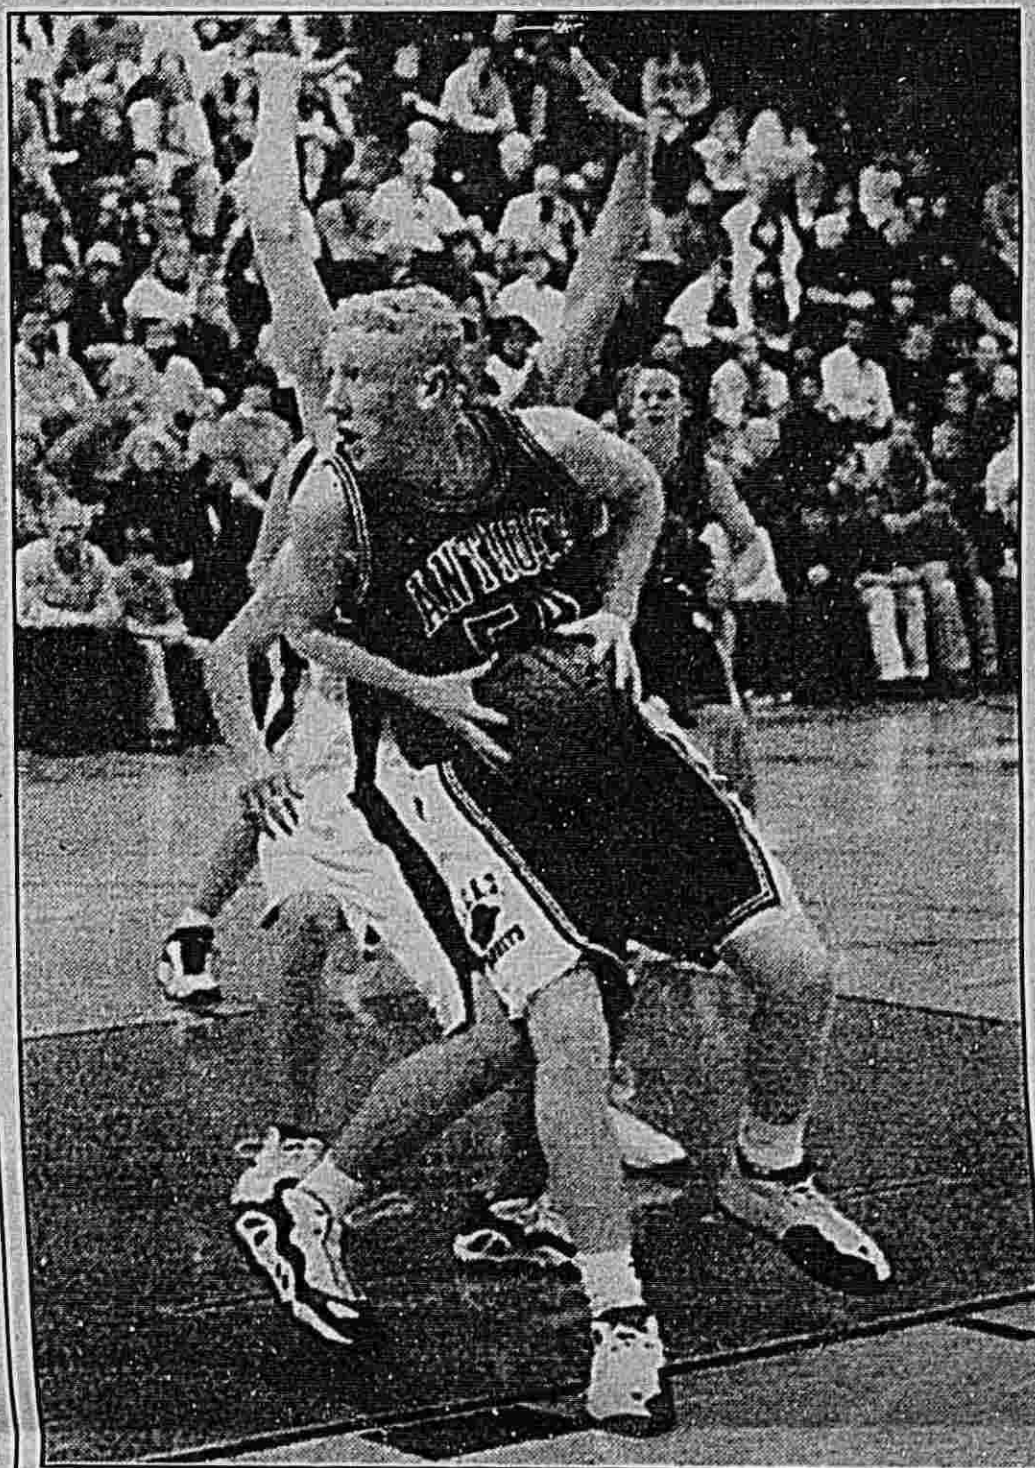

Groth drove and hit a leaping jumper with :05 seconds remaining, and went to the line leading 64-62. He hit the 'gimme' and LHS missed on their final three-point attempt.

The huge win matches Antioch with a powerful Waukegan team that is coming off a win over Warren—the other co-number two in the NSC.

Waukegan faced Antioch Wednesday night, but at press time the results were not available.

In the other bracket of the Sectional, Mundelein faced favorite Zion-Benton, and the Mustangs fell 83-60 to the seemingly-unstoppable Zee-Bees.

If Antioch advances, the Sequoits will play Zion-Benton Friday night at 7:30 p.m. at Waukegan High School.

Rams need plenty of pitching in FVC

Pitching figures to be the strength of the Grayslake Rams as they head into the uncharted waters of the Fox Valley Conference.

Senior Dave Weber, anchors the talented staff, according to coach Sean Ferrell.

"Dave will get the ball on opening day. He has worked hard all winter. He has cut down his number of pitches. He is up consistently at 81-82 MPH. He has gained a lot more confidence - he is not just throwing," said Ferrell.

The Rams have a 17-player roster: seven seniors and 10 juniors.

"The key will be team chemistry - how the juniors mesh with the seniors. I met with each player individually and we met Saturday as a team. We set some realistic goals. We want to be respectable in the Fox Valley," said Ferrell.

Eric Spaw, a pitcher and catcher, and catcher Joe Kane are back for their third varsity season.

Seniors back in baseball include pitcher Ryan Unger and Tony Miret-ti and Larry Noble, an infielder.

"We have a good group of juniors," said Ferrell.

These include pitcher Adam Bergerin; outfielder Alex Frank; outfielder Mike Beverley; Matt Ellison, football team's quarterback who has been a "pleasant surprise".

"The pitchers have been working hard on their mechanics Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and we run drills the other days. Having a big field house really helps us. We use the small gym for hitting and use the larger gym for drill work," said Ferrell.

He said the Rams are looking forward to the new league. Judging by the past, Cary-Grove and McHenry may be the pre-season favorites.

Adding depth to the Rams will be: juniors infielder Brett Skelly; outfielder, first baseman and pitcher Joe Stopka; first baseman and pitcher Josh Parmaski; outfielder Ed Musni, who will "play a lot"; third baseman and outfielder Keith Hall, and senior Nick Vlahos.

Sequoits preparing for success on diamond after roundball

No doubt about it, boys basketball is certainly the talk of Antioch.

The Sequoits are back in the sectional semifinal for the first time since 1995. For a handful of Sequoits, that means baseball season will have to wait.

"It is a double-edged sword. You feel good that they are still in it and hope they keep winning, but you would like to coach them, too," said ACHS coach Paul Petty.

Shortstop Chris Groth, No. 1 pitcher Mike Nielsen, Ryan Clutz and Patrick Straub are on the regional champion hoops team.

"If Mike picks up where he left off in the summer, he will be just fine. He came a long ways last year," said Petty of Nielsen.

Catcher Reggie Hughes is back with his potent bat as is infielder George Fuchs.

"Our outfield should be young," said Petty.

Senior center fielder Adam Bubash anchors that group.

"On defense, we have some options depending on who pitches. We can make some chess moves," said Petty.

The Sequoits were 18-17 a year ago, but know the North Suburban Conference will be a tough loop this spring.

Speaking of spring, the season opener with Wauconda on March 21 looked less likely with the comeback of winter.

"The key this year will be if the pitchers step up or not," said Petty as he readied for his sixth year at the helm.

All-Stars win Olympic silver

Feb. 8, the All-Stars played two games at the Northeast Ill. Special Olympic District Tournament in Deerfield. The first game was played against Indian Prairie Blue. The All-Stars walked away from the first game with a 73/44 victory. Robert B. was the leading scorer with 22 points. Some other high scorers were: Renaldo B. with 16 points and both Chris Petersen and Christian Torres with 10 points apiece. The game was a good match of skills and provided excellent competition.

The All-Stars competed in an intense second games against SRARL-Zion. The challenging game ended in a 46/56 loss to Zion. Christian Torres displayed an outstanding performance scoring 25 of the 46 points. The All-Stars won the silver medal in the regional tournament.

Heart and soul

With the smell of flowers in the air and the view of snow melting off the roof of the house next door from the window where I write, my mind wanders.

Somehow my mind stops at the feeling of giddiness I get from thinking about March Madness.

The view of the ball in the air. The thought of the crowd roaring. The swish of the net and the squeak of the shoes on the hardwood. March madness at it's best.

Not everyone has the same feelings I do, however. There are people who just can't leave well enough alone. There are proponents of the NCAA tournament.

They claim that it's not the best of the best on the floor. They say that some college's shouldn't be there or that certain teams don't belong. They want to keep the little college's out.

I believe that these are the same people that call fouls in blacktop basketball. They are the same people that never believed the movie "Hoosiers" really happened. They are the people who believe that stats and numbers are more important than emotions and heart.

They are the bad people.

It's this simple. The teams that appear on the sheet of 64, the teams that are playing in the "Big Dance", have earned a spot on there. They are there because of their record or the winning of a tournament.

They deserve to be on the porch with the other dogs in the tourney. Whether they're name is Duke or North Carolina or Radford or Prairie View A&M, they all are there for a reason.

And, in the end, if Duke is really the biggest dog on the porch, then their first round contest against Radford should be a 1000 to 2 rout.

You just never know though. Every year, a story is passed around about how the emotion of a 15 seed beat a number 2 seed.

You never know. Radford could be the little dog that knocked the "biggest dog on the porch" back to the pen.

If you'd like to step into the trenches and discuss an issue with the sports editor, please call Brendan O'Neill at 223-8161 (ext. 132), or fax to 223-8810. Please include your name, phone number, and town in which you live.

Size and strength

It's time for March Madness in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), and everyone has their brackets mapped out, showing which teams you predict will win, which will lose, and which will become champion.

Inevitably, as the teams that made the "Big Dance" are selected, there are a handful of teams that have legitimate gripes as to why they were left off the list of 64 "chosen ones" with a chance at a national championship.

Currently, the winners of each end-of-year conference tournament automatically earn spots in the tournament. But is this right?

Teams that make the field as conference tourney champs are schools like Radford, Nicholls State, Navy and Prairie View A&M. Prairie View A&M? Last year they won just four games and this year they finished the regular season with a sub-.500 record. Are they one of the best 64 teams in the country?

Of course not, but to make the conference tournaments worthwhile, and to ensure they make money for the conference schools, the conference tourney champs earn a spot in the Big Dance.

If the NCAA was to choose the truly best 64 teams in the nation, they would base their decision on overall record, conference record, strength of schedule, RPI rating, etc., over the whole season, not just for one four-game stretch in a conference tournament created purely as a way to make more money for the conference.

Sure, the conference tournament system gives the little school like Prairie View A&M a long-shot at the national championship, but no No. 16 seed has ever won an NCAA tourney game...ever.

Wouldn't we, the fans, be better served seeing "bubble" teams like Iowa, Wake Forest, and Ball State make the tournament...they play in conferences like the ACC and Big-Ten, not some rinky-dink conference with little or no heavy-weight competition.

Let's have the best 64 teams compete in the Big Dance, not the best 40, with 24 pretenders

Time to brush up on dental hygiene

Dr. Sonia Gutierrez DDS

Q. When should my child first see a dentist?

A. Your child should visit a pediatric dentist by 2 to 2 1/2 years of age. Early examination and preventive care will protect your child's smile now and in the future. Some children benefit from an even earlier examination if they have been on the bottle past one year of age.

Q. What dental problems could a baby have?

A. The most important reason for an earlier visit is a practical prevention program. A big concern is nursing or baby bottle tooth decay. Your baby risks severe decay when he or

The Diagnosis is Never Easy to Hear...

Having exhausted all the curative treatment options, I had to tell the family his diagnosis was terminal. However, I knew that by suggesting Hospice, they could obtain the additional support they would need to help them all get through this. Now that my patient has only months to live, I am more certain than ever this was the right decision. It is providing them with a lot more resources than home health would be able to offer. The nurses have been assisting with pain relief while the aides have been helping him with his daily care. And their social worker has been helping them with their financial situation. The whole family appreciates the volunteer, who has allowed family members to carry on their lives with some semblance of normalcy. In these cases, it makes my job a lot easier when I know my patients and their families have hospice for support.

However, help is available when the diagnosis of a terminal illness creates pain and turmoil that is too much to bear. The Hospice of Northeastern Illinois (HNI), can help.

HNI is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping those with life-limiting illnesses and their families retain their dignity and maintain the highest quality of life possible. Using a team of dedicated medical, social service and spiritual professionals as well as specially trained volunteers, HNI provides 24-hour assistance to its patients and their caregivers. HNI serves patients and families in Boone, DuPage, Kane, McHenry and western Cook and Lake Counties.

There's new thinking behind weight loss

The pressure to diet and be thin in America is intense. Thin, beautiful supermodels always have been featured on runways, on television, and in magazines, but what's astounding is the growing weight-loss industry. For whatever reasons, more and more people seem to be affected by the desire to be thin; the body acceptance, may fail to address the health risks of obesity and eating.

The chronic dieter of the 1990s has lost touch with his or her own body by not listening to its signals. When you were a child, for example, you intuitively ate when you were hungry;

$30 billion-a-year diet industry offers strong evidence for this.

Anti-dieting and and stopped when you were full. Rediscover the basic necessity of eating- to nourish the body. Yet, to be realistic, you are not told to reject the pleasures that food can bring. Part of learning how to "honor" your hunger and your fullness is to rediscover the delights of food.

Make peace with your food and discover that your body has its own natural weight, which is often lighter than you are at the moment, but not necessarily the super model dimensions that advertisers portray as paragons of health, happiness and beauty.

she nurses continuously from the breast or from a bottle of milk, formula or juice during the day or at night.

The earlier the dental visit, the better the chance of preventing dental problems. Children with healthy teeth chew food easily, learn to speak clearly and smile with confidence. Start your child now on a lifetime of good dental habits.

Q. How can I prevent tooth decay from nursing or a bottle?

A. Don't nurse your baby to sleep or put them to bed with a bottle of milk, formula, juice or sweetened liquid. While they sleep, any unswallowed liquid in the mouth supports bacteria that produce acids and attack the teeth. Protect your child from severe tooth decay by putting them to bed with nothing more than a pacifier or bottle of water.

Q. How do I make my child's diet safe for his teeth?

A. First, be sure he has a balanced diet. Then, check how frequently he eats foods with sugar or starch in them. Food with starch include breads, crackers, pasta and such snacks as pretzels and potato chips.

When checking for sugar, look beyond the sugar bowl and candy dish. A variety of foods contain one or more types of sugar, and all types of sugars can promote dental decay. Fruits, a few vegetables and most milk products have at least one type of sugar. Sugar can be found in many processed foods, even some that do not taste sweet.

For example, a peanut butter and jelly sandwich not only has sugar in the jelly, but may have sugar added to the peanut butter. Sugar is also added to such condiments as catsup and salad dressings.

Condell's NutriQuest Program says "Spring Clean Your Exercise Attitude"

Hoping to shape up this spring, shed some unwanted pounds and improve your health? Most of us are. And we also know that regular exercise is an important part of maintaining a healthier weight. So why don't we do it?

"People who have not yet made exercise a regular part of their lifestyle often find themselves sabotaged by a few common situations," comments Karen Demski, manager of the NutriQuest program offered by Condell's Medical Center Health Institute (MCHI) located in Centre Club, 200 W. Golf Rd., Libertyville. "We all know that we should get regular exercise for our overall health, as well as to assist in weight control, but our lives provide us with plenty of excuses to avoid it," she adds.

Demski says successfully incorporating an exercise program requires some spring cleaning of our attitudes about exercise and then addressing these excuses or concerns before they arise and determining how we will deal with them.

The following are some common excuses that we all use for not exercising, and ideas from Demski for overcoming them:

- I'm too busy.

"Keep an activity diary for one week. Log the time you spend on every activity. Include office time, childcare, household chores, cooking, entertainment, television viewing, reading, etc. Then explore ways with your family to combine, delegate, or eliminate some activities to create three 20-minute slots per week for exercise."

- I'm just too tired.

"Remind yourself that regular exercise will give you more, not less, energy. Experiment at least twice with this idea by committing to take a 20-minute walk before you begin dinner preparations. Take your dog or children along. It won't take more than a few outings to prove to yourself that the fresh air and exercise will increase your energy level for the next few hours."

- I just can't get started on an exercise program.

"Pick something you enjoy. Don't be influenced by another's preferences. Attempting to force yourself to regularly perform a fitness activity you hate is foolish. Consider swimming, walking, tennis, rowing or another activity to get you started. Once your energy and endurance levels are improved, you may find yourself drawn to other kinds of exercise."

For more information on behavior modification, nutritional education and weight management, attend one of the free weight management orientation programs offered every Wednesday at 7 p.m., at Centre Club, a Condell affiliate, 200 W. Golf Rd., Libertyville. For reservations, call MCHI at 362-2905, ext. 5770.

How's your family-stress juggling act?

Juggling the demands of family and work is one of the leading causes of stress today. According to IOF Foresters family-stress expert, Dr. Richard Earle, parents can be filled with self-doubts that fuel personal and family stress. Earle advises that juggling demands effectively is the key to managing stress.

Whether at home or work, stress heats up when the gap between "I should" and "I really can" grows too big.

To help parents cope, a free brochure offering tips on juggling responsibilities effectively is available from the IOF Foresters.

Stress-reducing suggestions include:

- 1) Lower expectations, and abandon the notion of being perfect. Sometimes, the dishes can wait, but family can't.
- 2) Get the entire family to help run the household from day to day. Give up the idea that only you can do a certain job.

3) Develop a support network of friends or family to help you out at certain times, especially if you're a single parent.

4) Partners can shift tasks, like shopping or bill paying, to each other from short periods of time whenever one of you needs to focus on something of immediate importance.

Busy parents should learn to budget time wisely, plan regular stress breaks for the whole family and stop trying to do everything. Cut back, and take time to relax.

The IOF Foresters is a not-for-profit Fraternal Benefit Society dedicated to supporting projects that help strengthen family life. For more free tips on parenting and family stress from the organization, call 1-800-922-4-IOF.

Over-the-counter drug safety

Most Americans, in 9 out of 10 cases, take care of everyday aches and pains without going to a health professional. They tend to "tough it out" or buy an over-the-counter (OTC) drug product.

To self-medicate safely, however, means reading the label and following the instructions. It is not safe to assume that, because it is an OTC drug, it can be taken freely without regard to the information provided on the label.

This is especially true, because OTC drugs are purchased mostly at supermarkets — away from a pharmacist who could answer questions.

A person might, for example, be allergic to some of the active ingredients. If you're taking two OTC drugs at once, make sure the products don't contain the same ingredient. In such a case, you may be getting a double dose of something. Medications also may interfere with each other. Certain antacids, for example, reduce the effectiveness of the antibiotic tetracycline.

Read the warnings: People with special medical conditions, like high blood pressure, shouldn't take certain drugs. A drug may have side effects, or it may not be suitable for young children or pregnant or nursing mothers. Use of an OTC drug also may mask the symptoms of a serious condition. When in doubt, read the label, or ask your doctor.

A birthday picture could save your life

Research Foundation of America's goal is to encourage women to schedule birthday mammograms for themselves and give a mammogram birthday gift certificate to a mother, daughter or friend.

Despite the impressive advances in breast cancer research and treatment, ignorance remains our most feared enemy; CRFA is committed to banishing some of the breast cancer myths that kill.

- Myth 1: Breast cancer can't happen to me.
- Truth: All women are at risk of getting breast cancer.
- Myth 2: Cancer can be caused by mammograms.
- Truth: The level of x-ray radiation is negligible and represents no real health threat.
- Myth 3: Mammograms are painful.
- Truth: The discomfort is minimal, especially when compared to the emotional as well as physical pain that follows when breast cancer is not detected at its earliest stage.
- Myth 4: I don't need an annual mammogram, unless someone in my family has had breast cancer.
- Truth: Two-thirds of breast cancer diagnoses are made on women with no known risk factors.

Essentials for the family first-aid kit: tips on what to do in an emergency

Having a complete first-aid kit handy can save precious time in an emergency and enable you to take action immediately should one arise.

Some of the essentials for an at-home first-aid kit should include aspirin-free pain reliever, cotton swabs, non-stick gauze pads with cloth tape, adhesive bandages, hydrogen peroxide, rubbing alcohol, tweezers and antibacterial ointment.

The following are some tips to quickly care for some of the most common emergencies, from cuts and scrapes to burns and bug bites:

- Treat bee, wasp, ant, spider or mosquito bites by washing the area thoroughly and sterilize with rubbing alcohol. Remove the stinger (if there is one) with tweezers and apply a cold compress to ease swelling or pain. Apply bug-bite medication or calamine lotion (to ease itching) with a clean cotton swab. If excessive swelling or discomfort persists, consult a doctor.

- Protect skin with sunscreen! Always protect skin with clothing and sunscreen. If sunburn does occur, apply cool compresses every few minutes until the heat of the burn diminishes. Between compresses, apply moisturizing cream. If blisters appear, use a cotton swab to apply lotion or ointment to speed the healing process.

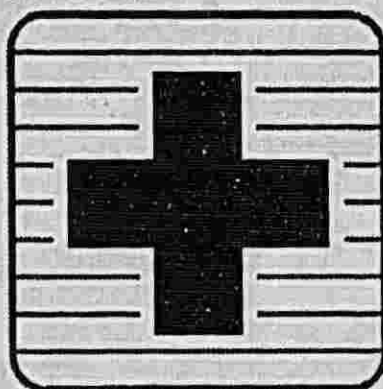

- Rashes from poison ivy and poison oak are not limited to any one season of the year. They are caused by contact with the oil of the plants' leaves or stems, and skin should be cleansed immediately. Hands and nails should be scrubbed carefully with a nailbrush or washcloth and soap to remove the oil and prevent spreading. Apply a nonprescription lotion like calamine or hydrocortisone to itchy areas with a clean, soft swab. Keep cool and comfortable—heat and perspiration generally make the itching worse. An oral antihistamine also helps relieve itching.

- Clean cuts and scrapes with an antibacterial soap. Follow by applying hydrogen peroxide, and protect with an adhesive bandage. For a larger area, cover with sterile, non-stick gauze pads secured with adhesive tape. Re-apply hydrogen peroxide and use a fresh gauze pad daily.

- To reduce the inflammation of minor burns, apply cool water. Dry the skin thoroughly and wrap loosely with a bandage. See your doctor immediately for proper medical care.

- When it comes to first-aid care, don't be stingy. If the packaging is torn on sterile bandages, buy new ones. Check for expiration dates on creams, ointments and medicines and replenish when supply runs low. Don't skimp on quality. For example, look for cotton swabs that have extra cushioning of 100 percent pure cotton at the tip for maximum softness, absorption and comfort.

It's lunchtime and you have to attend a meeting rather than your regular fitness workout. You think it doesn't matter, because you can always exercise tomorrow. But tomorrow comes and you have too much work to do. More days go by and you haven't worked out; something keeps getting in the way. You really enjoyed your exercise time and how you felt afterwards, but you just do not understand why you are not as motivated as you once were.

Any number of factors can contribute to changing fitness habits, reports the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. One possibility is that you did not establish a clear direction or goal for your program. Realistic goals provide focus to an exercise program. They help you get from where you are to where you want to be.

The goal-setting process is the same for physical fitness as it is for personal and professional development. Attainable goals help you understand what is possible out of many available options. Establishing goals brings into focus how your current fitness status relates to your ideal.

Develop both long and short range goals. Long range goals are more general, but not all-encompassing. They should be achievable through a logical progression of activity. They do not need to have a time limit for achievement.

Short range goals identify the logical steps to achieving your long term goals. They should be very specific and realistic, based on your present capabilities and should have a time limit for achievement. Short term goals can be used to measure your progress.

Setting your fitness program goals

Remember to include all the components of fitness when setting your goals, cardiovascular fitness, muscular strength and endurance and flexibility. Take a few minutes to consider your fitness goals and write them down.

Now you need a means to keep yourself focused on what you want to accomplish. One method is to make a contract with yourself. Contracts help you establish a system of accomplishments and rewards. First, list your short-term and long-term goals. Then, decide how to reward yourself for reaching each of your goals. Make the rewards special things that are important to you, something that you have always wanted. The more you value the reward, the easier it will be to accomplish the goal.

Setting goals keeps you motivated to do what you should do on a regular basis. This is a very personal process. Everyone's goals will be slightly different. Your goals and rewards need to be right for you.

Remember that goal-setting, like physical fitness, is an ongoing process. Each time a goal is achieved, set a new one. If you do not reach your goal within your set time frame, do not be discouraged. Reassess your status and set a new goal, either short or long range. Goal setting will help you maintain a consistent fitness program for the rest of your life.

Early Detection Vital to Managing Age-Related Macular Degeneration

Mundelein, Illinois, February 3, 1998- "Macular degeneration is one of the most common causes of blindness in adults over 6," says Dr. Elizabeth Dziuba at Look Sharp Eye Care Specialists in Mundelein.

Dr. Dziuba explains: As the eye ages, the macula, the most cell-rich section of the retina, can deteriorate. The macula provides central vision, essential for activities like reading, sewing and driving. Although peripheral vision usually remains unchanged, the loss of central vision is permanent."

It is not fully understood why some adults develop this disabling condition. We do know that the retina, the delicate inner lining of the eye that "sends pictures" to the brain, is very susceptible to any abnormality in its blood supply. It may also be related to aging, high blood pressure, smoking and exposure to high levels of ultraviolet radiation and blue light, both found in sunlight. It may also run in families. However, some recent research has indicated that certain antioxidant vitamins and minerals may help prevent or slow its progression.

In some cases, laser treatment may halt vision loss. The disease may be slowed by implementing the following steps:

- eating a low-fat balanced diet;
- asking your optometrist about dietary supplements;
- wearing sunglasses that block 99 to 100 percent of ultraviolet radiation and also screen out blue light;
- keeping blood pressure under control; and
- avoid smoking.

Early detection is the key. If you are over 50, Dr. Dziuba at Look Sharp Eye Care Specialists, Ltd. recommends a thorough eye exam every year as part of your routine preventative health care. People should also be alert for the symptoms of macular degeneration and seek professional help immediately if they notice:

- a sudden loss of the ability to see clearly;
- a gradual change in color vision;
- distorted vision, such as wavy lines that should be straight;

and/or

- a dark or empty area appearing in the center of vision.

Look Sharp Eye Care Specialists, Ltd. is participating in the National Eye Health Education Program, a nationwide effort coordinated by the National Eye Institute to educate the public about the importance of preventive eye care.

Do you smoke and take birth control pills? Do you take your antibiotic pill with a glass of milk or with an iron pill? Do you use a meat tenderizer on your food while taking diuretics?

Prescription medications are safe and effective by themselves, but they don't always mix well with other products we use every day. The following information is typical of the helpful advice available from your local independent pharmacist.

Food and Beverages

Food and beverages can interact in three ways with prescription drugs. First, they can stop or diminish the action of the drug by preventing it from moving out of the stomach towards the bloodstream. People who swallow an antibiotic pill with milk may not get enough medicine into their bloodstream to stop the infection.

If antibiotics are taken with coffee or fruit juice, the results can be just as bad. Chemicals in those drinks might destroy the drug in the stomach. In most cases, it's best to take medicines with plenty of water. However, there are exceptions, so be sure to talk to your pharmacist.

Second, some food-drug combinations can cause dangerous effects in the body. One of the most serious reactions occurs when drugs for depression (called monoamine oxidase inhibitors) are mixed with foods containing a chemical called tyramine. Putting the two together can cause very high blood pressure, late, yogurt, bananas, yeast and others.

DRUG INTERACTIONS: Some things don't mix

Third, some drugs reduce the body's ability to absorb vitamins and minerals from food. Diuretics, used to eliminate extra water from the body, also remove substances the body needs such as potassium and magnesium.

Laxatives, antibiotics and other drugs can also stop vitamins from getting into the body.

Some over-the-counter products should not be mixed with prescription medication. Iron pills, for example, should not be taken at the same time as antibiotics.

Cigarette smoke contains about four-hundred different chemicals that don't always mix well with prescription drugs.

Alcohol Reactions

Alcohol, including beer and wine, can trigger reactions with drugs of all kinds. When in doubt, don't drink alcohol if you are taking prescription medications without first checking with your doctor or pharmacist.

According to NARD, the national association representing independent retail pharmacists, your chances of having a serious drug interaction are small if you ask your doctor or pharmacist for a list of items to avoid. Tell them about any other prescription and non prescription drugs you are taking, and read labels carefully.

Grandma's Secret Revealed

Remember how your grandmother always had a piece of candy in her apron pocket just for you? Well, chances are you were just the lucky beneficiary of granny's condition. Dry mouth, or as it is medically named Xerostomia, from the Greek xero (dry), and stoma (mouth), affects about three out of every 10 adults.

Aging is an important factor in the onset of Xerostomia, especially among women. It is not only an uncomfortable condition, but is one of the leading causes of tooth decay. Dry mouth can be caused by reactions to any of more than 200 medications, as well as several illnesses, including cancer, Sjogren's syndrome, rheumatoid arthritis, diabetes, vitamin deficiencies and hypertension.

As anyone who has been called upon to make an impromptu speech can attest, stress can cause the sudden onset of dry mouth, making speaking almost impossible.

Resorting to candy and mints merely compounds the tooth decay problem brought on by diminished saliva production. Normal saliva is part of the body's antibacterial defense system. When there is insufficient saliva present in the mouth, bacteria tend to flourish. So, creating a sugar-rich oral environment can cause devastating dental problems.

Schaffer Labs of Pasadena, Calif., has introduced Salistat-Tabs, a saliva-inducing tablet. The citrus-based tablets contain no sugar and are buffered to protect the teeth. One tablet allowed to dissolve on the tongue will physiologically stimulate the salivary glands instantly for short-term relief.

Prevention

is key to fighting cancer

The life expectancy of Americans has increased dramatically during the 20th century, from 45 years for a person born in 1900 to more than 75 years for those born in 1989.

Most of those gains in life expectancy have come from preventing illness, rather than trying to cure it once it develops. Preventive measures such as improved hygiene, better sanitation and widespread vaccinations have saved the lives of millions of infants and prolonged the lives of adults.

For example, in just twenty years, vaccination programs have eradicated measles, a disease that once afflicted sixteen million people worldwide. And that was accomplished for less than what is spent in the United States every three months for removing gallstones.

Other life-threatening diseases that have been virtually eliminated—not through new treatments but by preventing their development in the first place are polio, malaria, typhoid, whooping cough, vitamin-deficiency diseases and tuberculosis.

Why not cancer?

When it comes to cancer, though, prevention has played far too small a role in our efforts to eradicate the disease that afflicts one million Americans and causes the deaths of 500,000 Americans every year.

As we mark National Cancer Prevention Month in April, we are reminded that research has shown that as much as 70 percent of cancers in this country are preventable. Yet America spends less than one-third of one percent of its $600 billion-a-year health care budget on prevention.

And funding for cancer research is slipping. In 1989, only one-quarter of all grants approved by the National Cancer Institute were actually funded.

While many organizations in the United States are chartered to help in the fight against cancer, only one has dedicated its efforts to prevention of cancer—The Cancer Research Foundation of America.

In just over five years since its founding in 1985, CRFA has awarded nearly two-million dollars to fund cancer prevention research and educational programs across the country.

Seniors Can Keep Healthy Luster With 'Big Three': Exercise, Nutrition, Hydration

A recent report on aging estimates that the United States already has more people over age 65 than it has teenagers—and the numbers of those living well beyond the "golden years" are growing. Of those reaching age 65, 80 percent are living to age 80.

The extension of average lifespan had brought new challenges for the aging — one of which is paying renewed attention to leading a healthy lifestyle. For the elderly, that can make or break the chances of growing old "gracefully."

Seniors are advised to pay attention to the simple things, especially the "big three"—exercise, nutrition and hydration.

Exercise Important

A regular walking program is recommended. Studies have consistently shown that walking on a regular basis can help lower the risk of heart disease and other chronic illnesses.

Good eating habits are another key to overall health. No more than 30 percent of calories should come from fat, for instance, and only 55 percent should come from carbohydrates. Protein should make up the rest.

Seniors, like many young people, often overlook the easiest part of leading a healthy lifestyle: staying hydrated, or meeting the body's constant need for water. As people age, they face special challenges when it comes to hydration. Their thirst mechanism becomes less accurate and their body's ability to react quickly to heat or cold rapidly diminishes. This means seniors are more susceptible to illnesses such as heat stroke, cramps and exhaustion, which are caused by dehydration, often triggered by extreme temperature conditions.

Some of the warning signs of heat-related illnesses and severe dehydration are involuntary muscle spasms, headache, dizziness, weakness and loss of consciousness.

The best way for seniors to avoid these often life-threatening conditions is to drink ample amounts of water and limit time spent in extreme climates. Make a conscious decision to take in at least 2 1/2 to 3 quarts of water a day from all sources (liquids, solid foods). Of this amount, at least 1-2 quarts should be water itself. To make sure seniors get this "Minimum daily requirement" and to make sure they always have access to water, carrying bottled water is suggested, especially when temperatures pose a threat.

As a precautionary measure, seniors should check with their doctor before they start any exercise, nutrition or hydration program.

You're over 50?

Don't settle for those boring, tasteless meals

Jane Weston Wilson, who describes herself as "sixty-five, fully alive and working on my biceps," notes a common complaint among her friends who dine at the homes of younger family members or friends. "People tell me that they either come home from a dinner with a stomach-ache from eating rich foods that give them indigestion, or they come home hungry, having eaten only a bland meal with no salt and no spices, followed by the inevitable compote of prunes." She believes a solution is overdue.

America, (and considering that today's budget-conscious entertainers are keeping the party at home), Wilson stresses that the book has particular value for younger people who regularly host dinners for their parents or older friends.

Socializing with mom and pop

"As sons and daughters get older, mom and dad often become friends as well as parents, and are increasingly included in their children's entertainment plans," she points out, adding that many households span three generations as well.

"Cooking for your parents can be as simple using five cooking techniques that automatically lower fat, cholesterol and calories." These favored methods are: steaming, poaching, sautéing, grilling or broiling, and baking.

A feast for all

"Young people should be aware that mature adults often have special nutritional needs," Wilson says, "but that doesn't mean that the entire dinner party has to suffer boring food. Everyone can feast and without cooking separate meals."

In her highly praised book, Eating Well When You Can't Just Eat The Way You Used To, (Workman) Wilson provides a "Silver Palate" cookbook for the over-50 set, by presenting ideas that bring new flavors and flair to every-day cooking as well as special occasion entertaining.

With more than 60 million people over the age of fifty in

The key to eating well

One key to eating well is eating lighter, and Wilson believes her lessons are equally healthy for the under-fifty set. "There is no reason for anyone of any age to get up from the dinner table feeling stuffed," she notes.

Body Slam!

Local wrestlers working on their dream in the ring

By LEON FILAS
Staff Reporter

Their movements are a combination of grace and power. They move around the ring, graceful in their ability to fly through the air, powerful in the impact that's felt when one massive body slams into the other.

This is the training ground. The place where it all begins for local area wrestlers trying to make it to the big time.

Men from the area are trying to make it to the extreme in their sport. They are trying to become professional wrestlers.

"It's a combination of luck and skill that catapults you to the top in this profession," said "Tombstone" Kevin Steele, backstage before his main event. "I'm getting there."

Steele, who's been wrestling for a little over a year now, is a Grayslake resident (though he says he's from Tombstone Arizona,) looking to make it big in professional wrestling. He's on the verge of breaking through into the full-time ranks and is considered to be one of the top contenders in the Professional Wrestling Association.

The PWA was started nearly 5 years ago by Sunny Rodgers, a professional wrestler with 17 years of experience under his belt.

"Wrestling's in good shape right now," Rodgers stated. "With the WWF (World Wrestling Federation) and the WCW (World Championship Wrestling) bringing in more and more fans, wrestling's in one of its peak years."

Proof is in the pudding as PWA holds a once a month event around the Chicagoland area. In May, they will be coming to Waukegan for an event in which King Kong Bundy, an ex-superstar wrestler from the WWF weighing well over 400 pounds, is scheduled to make an appearance.

"The future of wrestling is bright," Rodgers continued. "There's a couple of guys out there looking to hold the future of wrestling in their hands."

That could mean Steele, and other local wrestlers like Ron Creek of McHenry, "Bad Boy" Rob Motta of Zion and "Big Time" Kirby Duck of Waukegan could have a future in it.

"Right now, it's just fun for me," Steele said. "It's fun to go out and stand in front of the crowd, all of them chanting your name. It's a thrilling moment."

Though wrestling has been denoted as being fake and staged in the past, many of the wrestlers deny the allegations.

"What I do isn't fake or staged," Steele stated. "What I do hurts people. I am an athlete in the best shape of my life."

Creek, who also has been wrestling for a little over a year, shows the battle scars of a match with Steele. A lump the size of a can-

"(Steele) did that just last week," Creek stated, pointing at the lump. "And 6 weeks ago, I tore all the cartilage in my ribs. I'm living proof the stuff were doing out there is real."

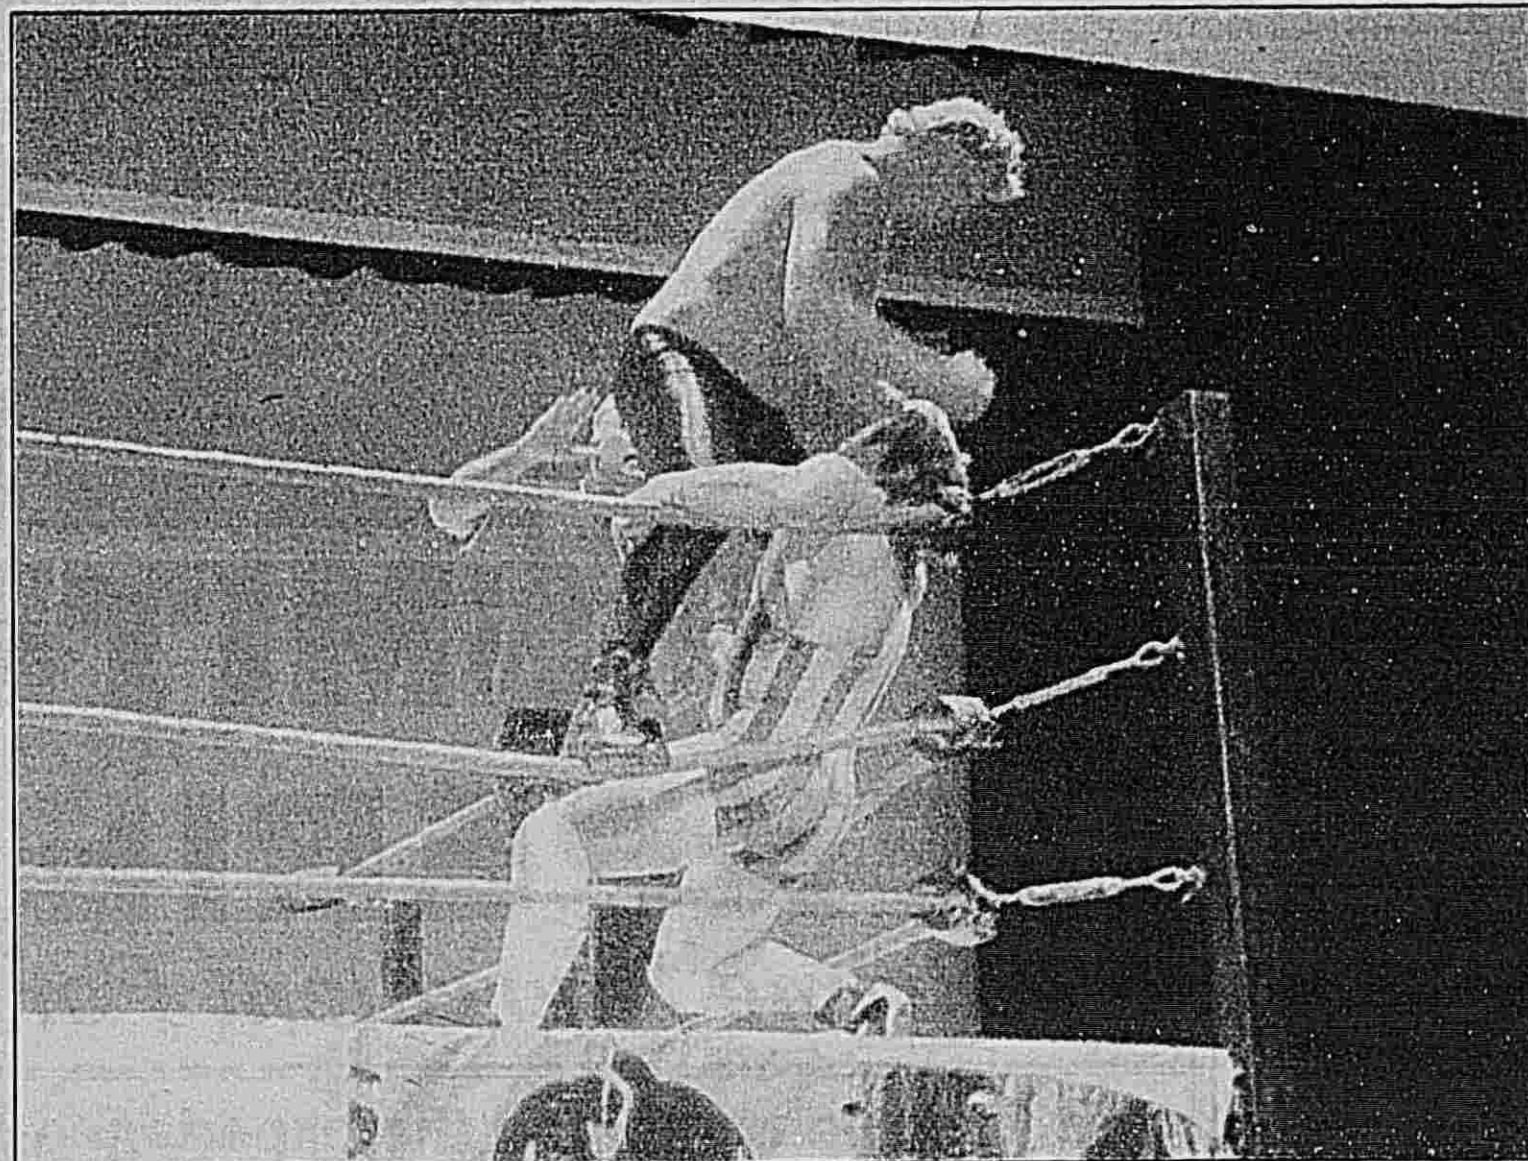

"When I jump off the top rope and land on someone, they can feel it. How can that be staged," Rodgers helped.

Eventually, the lights in the amphitheater dimmed while the stage lights came up. 300 people in the Hemmon's Auditorium in Elgin started screaming and cheering, waiting for the action to happen.

Kevin's eyes grew as big as saucers as he looked out over the crowd and smiled at his cheering and adoring fans.

"This is what it's all about," Steele smiled. "The fans."

THEATRE

'Wizard of Oz'

Tickets are on sale for "The Wizard of Oz" at the Rosemont Theatre, March 21 to April 5. Mickey Rooney and Eartha Kitt star in the stage production of the 1939 movie classic.

The stage play unfolds in a black-and-white setting, the same imagery as the original movie. As Kansas is struck by the tornado and Dorothy's house settles in Munchkinland, a kaleidoscope of color surrounds the audience. Dorothy then begins her journey through Oz, encountering Glinda the Good Witch, the citizens of Munchkinland, The Wicked Witch of the West and the Wizard, himself.

Rooney, portraying the Wizard, is a film veteran who has twice been nominated for an Academy Award. Eartha Kitt is a veteran of stage, screen, cabaret and the recording industry, and is one of a handful of performers to be nominated for a Tony, an Emmy and a Grammy. Jessica Grove, 15, from Columbus, Ohio, portrays Dorothy.

Learning Fund hosts 'Fiesta!' benefit

The Learning Fund will host its annual benefit, "Fiesta!" on Saturday, March 14 at the Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort. Through this event, the Learning Fund will seek to strengthen its partnerships with community members and area businesses. The evening will feature both live and silent auctions to generate funds for educational programs which benefit District 103 students. In addition to the auctions, the evening will include a "South-of-the-Border" buffet dinner, music and dancing.

"Fiesta!" will begin at 7 p.m. in the Grand Marquee Tent. The silent auction will be open until 9:30 p.m., at which time the live auction will begin. A number of unique items will be featured in the auctions, including the following: signed Chicago Bulls basketball; "honorary" bat boy or girl for the Chicago White Sox; four tickets "first row off the floor" to the Chicago Bulls versus Detroit game on March 31; eight box seats behind the home dugout for Chicago White Sox versus Milwaukee game on June 17; "soup-to-nuts" dinner for 10 at Aspen Grille; and Chicago sports team memorabilia. In addition, the District 103 P.T.O. and the Half Day School fourth grade teachers will donate several Illinois quilts for auction. These quilts are unique in that classroom students create the many quilt squares. Proceeds from the quilt auction will add to the annual Oscar T. Bedrosian Memorial Scholarship Award fund.

With money raised from its benefit last March, the Learning Fund awarded grants to establish a math/science lab at Half Day School and an extended artist-in-resident program at Laura B. Sprague School.

Funding for these types of programs has historically been beyond the reach of school district operating budgets. Funds raised at this year's benefit will support more innovative and enriching programs for District 103 students. For more information, call Betsy Cornell at 948-5457.

'Elmer Gantry'

Elmer Gantry is based on Sinclair Lewis' Pulitzer Prize-winning novel and Academy Award-winning film. In the dusty backwater towns of the Midwest in the 1930s, Sister Sharon Falconer's two-bit traveling salvation show struggles to save souls and meet expenses. Enter the fast-talking, good-looking Elmer Gantry, salesman and con man. He turns Sister Sharon's world upside down and starts saving souls with show-biz savvy and greedy know-how. But what he really wants, money can't buy. His smoldering desire for the beautiful Sister Sharon ignites into a blazing inferno threatening to consume them both. The only thing left to save is his own soul.

Performances are Wednesdays at 2 and 8 p.m.; Thursdays at 8 p.m.; Saturdays at 5 and 8:30 p.m.; and Sundays at 2:30 and 7 p.m. Tickets are $33, with $5 off to senior citizens and students for certain performances. Reservations can be made by calling the box office at 634-0200.

'Grease!'

Put on those leather jackets and bobby socks! Tickets are on sale to see Frankie Avalon in "Grease!," one of the greatest phenomena of American musical theatre, at the Rosemont Theatre, through March 15.

Written by Chicagoan Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey, "Grease!" is the 1950s story of Rydell High Schoolers Danny Zuko, and Sandy Dumbrowski, the wholesome, naive transfer student whose life changes forever thanks to the influence of the tough-talking Rizzo, leader of the Pink Ladies gang. The show is filled with such hits as "Greased Lightnin'," "Summer Nights," "Born to Hand Jive," and "We Go Together."

Following every performance of "Grease!," Frankie Avalon will perform a 20-minute concert, crooning such favorites as "Venus," his 1959 recording which held the No. 1 position on the pop charts for 17 weeks. Thirty minutes prior to curtain, greaser DJ extraordinaire Vince Fontaine will host a pre-show party, spinning golden oldies, taking dedications, and inviting audience members to dance on stage.

Avalon revives his role as the Teen Angel from the 1978 hit movie-musical. Ticket prices range from $24.50 to $49.50. To charge tickets by phone, call (312) 559-1212. For group information, call 671-9800.

Looking down from the rim of the Grand Canyon to the Colorado River below can be a breathtaking experience. What may appear to be a small rock below can actually be as big as a story high building!

Still, it cannot compare to the awesome sight of looking up at the towering canyon walls from below, sitting by a background. In the moonlight you can just make out a Bighorn Sheep high above on a rocky ledge looking back at you.

Then it's time for a peaceful sleep under the stars, thinking about the excitement of the next morning, when we start our run down the mighty Colorado River!

After the guides serve up a breakfast of Eggs Benedict, pork chops and blueberry pancakes, it's time to climb aboard the rafts and meet Granite, Hermit and Crystal. No, that's not the name of your guides. It's the name of some of the 60 or so rapids you'll run before the end of your trip. You'll also meet Lava Falls. Rapids are rated in difficulty from 1 to 10. With it's 37 foot drop, Lava Falls easily rates a 10!

While any sport has it's dangers, running the Colorado's powerful rapids is much more exciting than it is dangerous. Professional outfitters have been guiding trips down the Colorado River for over 35 years. Safety takes precedence over every decision. Children under 12 are usually not allowed. There is no upper age limit. Seniors are quite common on these trips.

A complete run of the canyon is a 12 day trip. Shorter runs are available adding the cost of a helicopter lift out. (It's either than or an eight hour hike). No need to bring camping gear, as most tours will provide everything you need, including meals you just won't believe that are prepared at a campsite!

Trips are offered between April and October and book up very quickly. Since the number of runs are limited by the U.S. National Parks Service...planning a year in advance is not uncommon.

MOVIE REVIEW

Newman's class twinkles in 'Twilight'

You are in your 70s, yet you still sparkle as you command the Silver Screen that has seen your countless dramatic victories. Those startling blue eyes, sharpened not dimmed with age, still have the arresting magnetism that crowns you reigning king of the medium that made you famous.

You are Paul Newman. Just watching your sculptured features as you move through your latest film, "Twilight" is enough for most of your fans, and they are a legion.

That low smooth voice is filled with tremors, yet somehow you are not the miscast grandfatherly figure making love like other wrinkle-worn actors like Clint Eastwood or John Wayne in their aged romantic hurrahs.

We were hoping for another "Verdict" to validate Newman's superior dramatic efforts so his Oscars would balance out those won by his wife, Joanne Woodward.

It's too bad that all of this Hollywood glory is wasted in a mediocre mystery film that gets its strength from the aristocratic Newman and three other Hollywood celebs, who also can do little wrong because of their tremendous talent.

Gene Hackman, Susan Sarandon (who also still seethes sex and allure despite her middle age), and James Garner, all have presence and immeasurable talent that transcends "Twilight." You get the feeling that this outstanding cast is just "jammin'" dramatically for an evening's enjoyment.

All of this is worth the ticket price even if this glorified "Harper" look alike isn't. Private investigator Newman interrupts the strong bond between longtime actors and lovers Sarandon and Hackman, as Garner lurks in the perimeter, while murder and some overly complicated bloody mayhem cavort.

On the strength of the storyline, we'd say wait for the video, but the sheer magnificence of Newman, Sarandon, Hackman and Garner are all big screen material.

We give R-rated "Twilight" three out of five stars simply because its dynamite cast wades through this messy mystery with aristocratic class.

A smarter director than Robert Benton could have created a classic mystery comedy by simply making proper use of these talents, while making fun of the film's ability to broadcast what's going to happen next.

We yearn to see the combination of Newman and Robert Redford or Newman and Garner in a "Butch Cassidy and Sundance meet Maverick" just one more time.—By Gloria Davis

Susan Sarandon and Paul Newman in "Twilight," a film that earns three out of five stars for its talented cast.

Trees, please

We moved to the Island Lake/Wauconda area six years ago because it was a small town with trees, but we didn't realize it was getting rid of the greenspaces. We can see the blacktop and concrete rolling down 176, but to what end? Just more cheap, crummy storefronts and blacktop. When will these people realize the gem they hold? They call it progress. As if that label expunged all other points of concern. I'd rather see a tree than a parking lot. I'd rather pay higher taxes than encourage crass commercialism. Why can't they at least have standards like Bannockburn or Lincolnshire and put some green in front of everything? Just because people hold blue collar jobs, doesn't mean they don't have class.

Can we stop?

For 20 years I have lived in Williams Park subdivision, and have been forced to join and pay dues to WPIA, the homeowners association. They have always complained about not having enough money, and always raised their dues, because they have to pay for flood retention in floodprone areas. Now that the County wants to buy them out, I think if the people don't want to sell their house the Williams Park association should not have to pay anymore money to stop the flooding of their houses, and they should be responsible for their own flooding problems.

We love you

We are proud to have known Bob Churchill for 26 years. You deserve to be our Secretary of State, Bob. You were with us through our tragedies and happy times. We will never forget you and feel like you are a part of our family

Fox Lake

More sewer problems

I would like to respond to the caller from Antioch about the sewers being forced on the unwilling majority. We are battling the same problem here in the unincorporated Ingleside/Cainswood area. The majority doesn't want sewers. The costs involved are very hard, not to mention the taxes that will go up hundreds of dollars every year in this area. We were told when the residents voted down the sewers twice, that it was only an advisory vote. What a cop out. Service trucks have been in the areas already measuring for the sewers. Do we have no rights regarding our properties? Can we be forced to pay for what we do not want? Who's say outvotes the majority?

Ingleside

Fox Lake mail

Fox Lake Vista and Nipersink Terrace subdivisions are in the Fox Lake fire department district and the Fox Lake School districts. So why doesn't the Fox Lake post office deliver mail in these areas rather than Spring Grove? If anyone has an answer, I'll look for it in Lipservice.

Iraq

I just want to say something about all this crud going on in Iraq, and the bombing or not bombing. People seem to have forgotten that if George Bush would have stayed out of it, and let Schwartzkopf and the rest of them run that war, we wouldn't be dealing with this jerk now. They were within 50 miles of Bagdad with nothing in between. They could have gone in there and flattened them and none of this would be going on. But nobody remembers that.

Shut up

I am calling about the caller from Round Lake who called about "Pig Farm." If people like that caller keep telling life-long residents where to go, then they should get out. Because the area is changing with all the new developments, and they don't like it, they should be the ones to leave. They should be the ones to get out of here and stop telling residents what to do with our land. This is supposed to be a free country and whoever wrote that should just be quiet.

Pre-existing

From what I understand there is now a law stating that insurance companies cannot turn down applicants due to pre-existing conditions. If this is true, how come I just got denied insurance after several years of paying for it previously? Sure, we had a lot of doctor visits for colds and ear infections. Does this mean that they are going to make it tougher than ever to obtain insurance, since they can't turn us down anymore for pre-existing conditions? And to get Cobra insurance, I was told it was going to be exactly half of what my take home pay is. That is for my family of two, and I don't qualify to receive public assistance. I'd rather not receive it, but if it came down to it, I couldn't anyway. How is it fair?

Libertyville

Learn to read!

It's a shame that many residents of Wauconda are too illiterate to read the sign posted on the gate to the high school track, stating, "No strollers, bicycles, roller blades, etc. allowed." If they only knew the $20-$30,000 repair to the rubberized asphalt is coming out of their tax dollars, maybe they would adhere to the rules.

Wauconda

No telephone

The mayor of Fox Lake has disconnected the telephone service from the seniors of the Wednesday Club at the community center of Fox Lake.

Did you realize?

I would like to know if anyone out there is paying attention. The supervisor of Lake Villa Township is attempting to secure grants for the purchase of land for recreation areas like ball fields and such. Sure, that sounds okay, but do you realize that the township would have to provide matching funds (dollar for dollar) in the amount of any grant money received?

This grant can be up to $400,000. Negotiations are already under way for the land purchase. You probably think that the board can't spend that much of your money without a referendum, but that is not true. By accumulating funds year to year, like the supervisor has repeatedly done, the board will be able to budget out and expand these funds as they see fit.

You the voters, can come to any regular board meeting, budget hearing or workshop meeting. You have the right to know the boards intentions on spending your money. By the way, this is the same board that decided to stop paying to light the existing football field to save us money. These two things together don't seem logical to me.

Grow up!

I would like to know why candidates who place their signs on approved signs are having their signs stolen? Isn't this a bit childish of the opposition? People will still vote for whom they choose whether signs are there or not.

Don't be fooled!

I am calling to leave a message for the tax payers in the Big Hollow school district in Ingleside. Although my children went to that school and now my grandchildren go to that school, the difference is night and day. When my children went to that school, you could go into that office, ask a question, and you were treated politely-like you were somebody. Now when you go into that office and ask a question, the people are so rude and obnoxious. You try to ask a question about a referendum and they act like you are prying into their personal business. I am just asking the tax payers to not be fooled by everything those people are telling you, because they are not honest.

Sign stealing

Just as she did in the previous election, Judy Martini is alleging that people are stealing her signs. Is it possible that they are being removed by the property owners who never gave her permission to put them there?

Kiss of death

Isn't it funny that none of the three people running for county board in Antioch Township have said anything about sewers? Could it be because it is the kiss of death? Though it would be nice to have sewers, it would also be nice to have a Cadillac. Since I can only afford a Chevy, I will stick to my septic system, which is working fine, and costs me about $130 every ten years to operate.

Antioch Township

Complaint line

I was happy to read Police Chief Watkins admit in the front page story of the Antioch Reporter, that the police department needs more training and professionals. Instead, it seems most of the police officers of Antioch are stepping on the rights of citizens. If this continues, the station will need a larger waiting area to handle the public complaints against these officers. Maybe complaints are the only way to instill better police officer behavior.

Antioch

Can't fool me

I've read Linda Peterson's profile and she looks like a busy person. Why does it appear that there is a campaign to remove someone from the county board who has done an excellent job for us all and has shown a real concern for the community. I keep seeing things that show me that there is a faction trying to stack the deck with their own cronies trying to get their own friends and families to run for office. They are trying to put a third person on the ballot to take votes away from someone and stealing signs. Well it hasn't fooled me. I am going to be voting for Judy Martini.

Rte. 22 opposition

I would like to know why there isn't a sign-up sheet for the people who are against the Rte. 22 bypass in Lake Zurich. Maybe we don't want another road going through the town! It may be a bypass, but the other one won't be taken out.

Lake Zurich

Boo Hoo

Several people in Williams Park do not want to leave even though their house floods year after year. Boo-Hoo. Why do I have to pay to have their houses pumped out? And why is the County issuing permits to have more houses built in that area? Your guess is as good as mine.

Best Pizza's at The Silo

The Silo in Lake Bluff is the place to go for a sumptuous pizza feast. The Silo is famous for having the "best pizza around" attested to by the accolades which have The Silo receiving votes for having the best pan pizza on the North Shore from the Chicago Tribune. Chicago Magazine dubbed the Silo's pizza "a superior version of Chicago style pan pizza."

The great variety of assorted pizza delights awaiting customers of The Silo include supreme, vegetarian, seafood, taco, spinach soufflé, and Frisco, as well as grilled garlic chicken and a cheeseless fresh vegetable grill. If diehards are not satisfied with these complete pizzas, they can load on extra sausage, mushrooms, pepperoni, ground beef, bacon, Canadian bacon, ham, pineapple, anchovies, black olives, onions, green peppers, jalapeno peppers, fresh garlic, sliced tomatoes, broccoli, zucchini, yellow squash, and of course, extra cheese.

With all pizza connoisseurs guaranteed royal treatment, it would be a mistake to assume that The Silo is merely a pizza place. The restaurant has a full menu that includes baby back ribs, four chicken breast dishes, seven pasta dishes, seven varieties of baked potatoes, 22 sandwich choices, 16 appetizers, six choices of soups and salads, and some heart-healthy servings.

Every Sunday evening from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m., the whole family can be entertained by Tom "BOZ" The Magician. BOZ has appeared on Bozo's Circus, NBC TV, Fox TV, and at Chicago's Pump Room.

The family owned restaurant has developed a warm atmosphere for dining and the staff is highly service oriented and more importantly, very friendly. Their loft affords ample banquet space for large groups.

The Silo, located at 625 Rockland Road (Rte. 176), in Lake Bluff, is open 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mon. through Thurs., 11 a.m. to 12 midnight Fri. and Sat., and 4 to 10 p.m. Sundays. Their phone is (847) 234-6660.

Plan a splashy summer border

With the end of winter soon approaching and the spring season right around the corner, it is time to think seriously about what we will plant for summer blooms. After the winter being so mild, there are many of us just itching to get outside and begin digging. One thing is certain, we cannot rush the season. Do not begin turning over the dirt too soon, if it is too wet, your work will be for naught, and you will create large clumps, rather than aerate the soil.

Perhaps this season will find you in a new environment, and you are not sure if there are any perennials that will emerge come summer, but you know you want a flower bed. A sun-loving summer

GARDEN JOURNAL

border offers you an astounding array of brilliant flower colors that can easily be created with annuals.

The summer garden offers some of the brightest colors, in a range of bright yellows, reds, oranges, and blues. Choose the annuals you will grow with the site in mind, also go with a color scheme which is pleasing to you, and your tastes. You can incorporate colors that pick up some hue of the permanent structures around your property whatever suits you.

Good choices for a border are in the background, Black-eyed Susans, Daylily, Zinnias and tall African Marigolds. For the middle of the border, Petunias, Salvia, and French Marigolds are great choices. In the foreground, Begonias and Sweet Alyssum work real well. All of the aforementioned flowers are readily available anywhere you would purchase gardening supplies.

When the weather and conditions permit, you can begin by clearing a border about three feet wide and as long as your space permits. Remove weeds and other growth and add about a two-inch layer of compost. Start with the background plantings first. Space the plants irregularly. You do not have to follow any set pattern, but use equal numbers of each variety. Plant French Marigolds and Petunias in positions to fill out your design—these plants are best when planted in clusters. I like to use Sweet Alyssum and Lobelia in the front edge of a flower border—they tend to trail back into the border, and are good to fill in empty spots throughout the design.

In late April, the nurseries will be loading their shelves with annuals, go and check them out. All the different colors and varieties that are available these days will astound you. If you are not sure of what types of flowers you like or what color scheme will work for you, "window shopping" is an excellent idea. Believe me, you will want to buy them all. I find it helpful to estimate how many flowers I need for a particular area, know the types I want to use, and put the plan down on paper. This way, you will not overbuy; remember those tiny seedlings do grow and spread. Ask someone working at the nursery about the flowers' growth habits, if you do not know them. They usually have a marker telling you how high they will get, how much space to leave between plants, and if they are sun or shade lovers.

Once your border is planted, remember to water regularly, especially when rain is scarce, to help plants establish a good root system. Also, to keep flowers looking their best, "deadhead" them often. That means to remove the spent blooms by pinching them off.

Happy planning, before long we will be planting. Until then, peace. Oops, I almost forgot. If you want some really awesome ideas for your garden, go check out the Chicago Flower and Garden Show. It is at Navy Pier, Grand Ave. at Lake Michigan, and will be going on from this Saturday until March 22. The hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., on Saturdays, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

IN THE KITCHEN

How do you shell 'Humpty Dumpty'?

This week, a reader asks a question that, most likely, many of us cooks have also wondered:

Dear 'In the Kitchen' editor:
I consider myself a pretty good cook and am quite handy

In the kitchen. But darned if I can't get the shells off of hard-boiled eggs neatly, when making Deviled Eggs. Am I cooking the eggs too long or too short, cracking them too hard, or what? Please help, I love to make Deviled Eggs, but hate it when the egg looks like the surface of the moon when I'm done shelling it!

Illinois Teen Institute looking for July seminar participants

Where do students go to focus on drug prevention, stopping violence, and building leadership skills? The answer is the Illinois Teenage Institute. This year's ITI will take place at Knox College in Galesburg. First session is July 12-16; second session is July 26-30. ITI is encouraging both teens (as participants) and adults (as staff) to attend. The cost for youth and adult participants registering before June 1 is $265. From June 2 - July 10 this cost is $300.

Teens at ITI have an intense five days of seminars and small groups. They discuss leadership, violence, and the harmful effects of drugs and alcohol. ITI also leaves students with an increased sense of self-esteem and responsibility.

When participants return home, they become more active in their community. Teen return with ideas to increase drug awareness in their schools and help provide alternatives for other students. Participants are also provided with an opportunity to work with over 700 youth and 120 adults from across Illinois.

Students build the skills necessary to become leaders in their community. ITI has been providing teens with awareness education and leadership training for 23 years.

ITI also encourages the community to participate by providing scholarships for the students. Over 80% of the teens who attend ITI are able to do so because of assistance from local businesses, parent organizations, and other community groups.

Without the enthusiasm and involvement of these community organizations, along with Chicago Public Schools and the Illinois Sheriff's Association, ITI would not be able to provide quality programming. If you are interested in making a donation, providing a scholarship, or participating, please contact the Illinois Alcoholism and Drug Dependence Association (IADDA) at (217) 528-7335. ITI is a program of the IADDA, and is funded in part by the Illinois Department of Human Services (DHS).

Inside credit reports: reading between the lines

Your credit report contains important information about you—information that can help you land a job or get approved for a mortgage. Last year, in an effort to continually improve credit reporting accuracy, Congress enacted the Consumer Credit Reporting Reform Act, which took effect in October of this year.

While the Act is designed to improve the way credit information is handled, it's important that you're aware of your responsibilities with regard to your credit report.

The role of credit reporting agencies:

What many people don't realize is that a credit bureau is simply an information gathering business. The three major credit reporting agencies input the computerized information they receive from lenders and merchants describing consumers outstanding balances and payment history.

These agencies also search public information records at courthouses throughout the country for information concerning judgments, liens, foreclosures, and bankruptcies. Credit reporting agencies do not assign ratings, nor do they deny credit. It is the lender who decides whether a consumer is creditworthy, based on the information it receives and on its own credit criteria.

When and why you should review your credit report:

Review your credit file every few years to make certain the information it contains is accurate and complete. Most errors occur in files of family members with the same last name and address and in those of people with common names. Misspellings and incorrect Social Security numbers add problems as well. Make it a point to check your credit report in advance of applying for a mortgage or other major loan. That way you can correct any errors and avoid delays in the processing of your loan request.

To obtain a copy of your credit report, you can contact one of the three major credit reporting agencies: Trans Union at 1-216-779-7200; Experian (formerly TRW) at 1-800-682-7654; and Equifax at 1-800-685-1111. The new Act limits to $8 the amount credit reporting agencies may charge you for a copy of your report. By law, if you contact the credit reporting agency within 60 days of being denied credit, your credit report is free. Based on the new Act, you are also entitled to a free report if you are unemployed and looking for work, are on welfare, or have reason to believe that your credit report contains inaccurate information due to fraud.

Correcting errors:

If you discover that your credit report contains inaccurate or incomplete information, complete the request for reinvestigation form you receive with your report or write to the credit reporting agency stating specifically why you believe the information is incorrect. The agency must contact the source of the disputed information. Under the new Act, which places more of the burden on the creditor, the creditor must certify that the questioned information is correct.

If the information is found to be incorrect or incomplete, the credit reporting agency must delete the information or modify it based on the results of the investigation. At that time, you can request that the credit reporting agency provide a revised copy to any creditor who reviewed your file during the previous six months (two years if the inquiry was employment related).

If the credit reporting agency cannot verify the disputed information within 30 days, the information must be deleted from your credit record. Should the creditor subsequently verify the accuracy of the deleted information, the agency is now required to notify you in writing within five days of reinserting the information in your file.

If the dispute cannot be resolved, you have the right to file a brief statement explaining your side of the story. This statement becomes part of your file and is sent to any creditor requesting your credit information. The credit agency may limit such statements to not more than 100 words, if it provides you with assistance in writing a clear summary.

Another important provision of the Consumer Credit Reporting Reform Act gives consumers the right to sue for damages if the creditor or the credit reporting agency verifies incorrect information. What if there is negative information in your file? Don't despair. CPAs advise that paying your bills responsibly over a period of two to three years may help convince lenders that your credit problems are behind you.

over 26,000 certified public accountants throughout Illinois. For information on additional CPA Society programs, events, products and services, individuals can visit the Society's Web site at <http://www.icpas.org>.

IRS and your taxes: common myths

Accidents happen in threes, it always rains on Halloween and if you file early you are sure to be audited. Most of us know that the first two myths have big odds, but a lot of taxpayers really believe the last one. I am devoting this column to putting to rest some of the major myths that still abound.

When you file your return has no relationship to your being audited. Every item on your return is scored based upon their relationship to one and other. The IRS uses these scores as the primary way to select returns for examination. Your return receives the same score regardless of when or where it is filed.

Another myth involves calling the IRS tax help line which receives thousands calls a day. Many people believe that if they call the toll-free number, we'll pay closer attention to their return than someone else. The IRS employees working on the tax help line do not ask callers for their names unless needed.

Another myth says that if you use the peel off label which is on the return you receive, that this will increase your chances of being audited. Let me dispel that one right now and encourage all taxpayers to use the label because it will reduce the chance for error.

Some people believe that IRS employees work on commission. Nothing could be farther from the truth. IRS employees are paid a salary just like other federal workers.

Another untrue rumor is that if you receive a large refund this will increase your chances of an audit. The IRS only wants to collect the amount of tax that is due.

Another myth says that you must be a minimum age before you are required to file a tax return. There are still others who think that you can stop filing when you reach a certain age. Both are untrue. The IRS sets specific income thresholds which determines whether a tax return should be filed.

A final myth out there contends that just because you receive a refund your return has been accepted as filed. The IRS has three years from the due date of the return (or the date it was filed, whichever is later) to audit a return.—Robert W. Brock, IRS District Director

Children's Advocacy Center receives $55,000 donation

The Lake County Children's Advocacy Center recently received a gift that will benefit the people of Lake County. A check in the amount of $55,000, which represents 50 percent of the proceeds from the Victory Hospital Foundation's 1997 Festival of Trees, was donated to the center in support of its work in the fight against child abuse. Also benefiting from the four-day, pre-holiday charitable event (held last November) was the Cardiac Catheterization and Special Procedures Suite at Victory Memorial Hospital.

"We plan to use this wonderful donation to expand counseling services to the children and families in Lake County who are victims of child abuse," said Michael J. Waller, Lake County's State's Attorney. In addition, some of the funds will support MECCA, the medical examination clinic for children's advocacy.

The Lake County Children's Advocacy Center, located at 323 North West Street, Waukegan, is a program of the Lake County State's Attorney's office. The center's staff investigates alleged incidents of child sexual and physical abuse and provides support and counseling services for its young victims and their families. Child abuse cases in Lake County have increased dramatically since 1979. Currently, the center serves 350 families each year.

Children may be afraid to talk about an incident of sexual or physical abuse. There are some signs that parents and concerned others can watch for, however, which may indicate a problem that should be investigated.

Children may exhibit behavioral changes like loss of appetite, change in bowel or bladder habits, trouble sleeping, nightmares, acting out, excessive clinging, etc. Or, they may have physical complaints, usually in the abdominal or genital areas.

People who suspect child sexual or physical abuse are urged to call the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center at 360-6870.

Lake County State's Attorney Michael J. Waller (center) accepts a $55,000 donation for the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center from the Victory Hospital Foundation. The donation was made possible by the success of the foundation's 1997 Festival of Trees. Making the presentation were (left to right) Tim Harrington, Victory Memorial Hospital president; Jan Knobbe (Beach Park), festival co-chairman; Waller; Mary Schostok, State's Attorney's office; and Janet Furman (Libertyville), Enchanted Evening ball chairman.

Local Weight Watchers members take tea with a Duchess

Charlene Jozefiak of Antioch and Jane Adams of Lake Villa, were two of 18 Weight Watchers members nationally to be named a winner in the company's "Tea with The Duchess" Sweepstakes. Each winner traveled to New York City for tea with Sarah, Duchess of York, on Jan. 30.

The Duchess hosted the tea for 36 guests in a private suite at New York's St. Regis Hotel.

Earlier in the day The Duchess went online for a live chat during the world's first cybertea hosted by Hearst New Media's highly popular "HomeArts Network" (www.homearts.com). ## Children's experts to address common urological problems

Urinary tract infections, bed-wetting, constipation and other urological conditions can be distressing for parents as well as children. Many parents may have questions such as how long does training take or will their child grow out of this problem? The "Ask Children's Experts" lecture series will answer many of these questions during its series on "Common Childhood Urological Problems" at Children's Services at Glenbrook Hospital, March 18 from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

"Parents need to keep in mind that the vast majority of children who have bed-wetting problems and recurring urinary tract infections are physically normal; they simply have a condition—comparable, say, to asthma, acne or bronchitis—that needs attention," says William Kaplan, M.D., pediatric urologist at Children's.

Kaplan says studies show that only five percent of children who have difficulty controlling their urination have a structural problem that requires surgery. Fifty percent of the physically normal children wet only at night during sleep; 40 percent during the night and day; and 10 percent wet only during the day. Boys experience wetting problems more so than girls.

"No one knows for sure how children normally learn to control their bladders during sleep and, conversely, why some children have difficulties mastering this," said Kaplan. "As children grow older, they become aware of a sensation of fullness during the day and gradually learn to 'hold back.' Very likely, wetting problems are comparable to a learning disability that may be influenced by a number of factors including delayed maturation of the central nervous system or certain foods."

Kaplan will be a guest lecturer at the series which is free and open to the public. For registration and more information, call 1-800-KIDSDOC.

Children's Services at Glenbrook Hospital is located at 2150 Pfingsten Road in Glenview.

Does our society need a different kind of hero?

Dear Dr. Singer, I am a 3rd grade teacher and find some of my kid's choices of "heroes" most unsettling. Instead of looking up to great minds, great artists, great musicians or brave people in general, the kids I see are more interested in the latest sports player who kicked someone or the newest T.V. program that has excessive profanity (mostly the cartoons) or the person who has done practically nothing but because he is making millions, that is enough to look up to. It disturbs me because I feel that our society is really without heroes right now and in desperate need of them. What do you think? F.H.

Dear F.H.

I also get distressed about this. I also think our society is in need of more heroes with strong character and good values. I think there are heroes out there. You just need to look hard enough. I think it's okay for kids to appreciate someone's humor or crazy antics, but to make these people into icons becomes a bit difficult, especially when the person's public behavior is anything but "hero-like."

My suggestion would be to make some of history's greatest people more interesting than a text book might. Help these kids to appreciate some of the "hero" qualities that you see in others, both past and present. Sometimes, the text books can make very colorful people seem very bland. You can bring the color back in. Now, will that let you compete with today's headline crowd? Probably not at the same level, but at least, you'll be adding some perspective and some texture. Be careful about letting kids know that you disagree with their choice of heroes. It will make them dig their feet in deeper and become even more attached to that hero. Try and find out what qualities are attracting the kids. It may not be as bad as you think. Even in the most objectionable person, there can be a lot of hard work that goes into their specialty.

Try to illustrate the behaviors you feel are good versus the ones that are bad. Try and help kids to understand what a hero is. I think that the movie, "Hercules" put it in the best way I've heard yet. It said, "A hero is not judged by the strength of his size but by the strength of his heart." This is a terrific lead-in for a discussion.

Also, you have to remember that in 3rd grade, kids rarely have long term principles involved in their choice of hero. They like the guy who is funny or shocking. They like the guy who says and does things they aren't allowed to. This isn't unusual. Help kids to see a little past this perspective and you might be surprised at what comes out.

Tips help allergy sufferers get out and enjoy the great outdoors

As one winter fades into memory, fewer sights are more inviting than the blooming plants and nesting robins that signal the onset of spring. The warmer weather is a breath of fresh air for everyone, except the 40 million Americans who equate spring with the beginning of the dreaded "allergy season."

The American Lung Association is offering these valuable tips on ways allergy sufferers can enjoy the outdoors.

"Finally, the word is being spread that allergy sufferers don't have to live in a glass bubble once the weather turns warm. This is the first time I have ever seen a major public information campaign to help allergy sufferers enjoy the great outdoors," says Dr. Linda B. Ford, asthma and allergy specialist.

The "fresh" air:

Microscopic granules of pollen can come from trees in the early spring, grasses in the early summer and weeds in the late summer. The sneezing, coughing, itchy, watery eyes and upper respiratory congestion is often called "hay fever."

These are ways to manage the effects of spring pollen if you suffer from allergies:

- Monitor air quality through radio, television and newspaper pollen-count reports. Most allergy sufferers develop symptoms when pollen counts are moderate to high, but symptoms can continue even when the count lowers.
- Pollen levels are highest in the early morning before 10 a.m., so try not to be outdoors then; and when you are indoors, keep the windows closed and use air-conditioning to filter and dry the air.

- Have someone else mow the lawn or rake leaves, these activities stir up pollens and molds.
- Don't hang sheets or clothing out to dry; pollens and molds collect on these materials.
- Avoid touching eyes and nose and transferring pollen there.
- Also, avoid drinking alcohol during the allergy season; alcohol stimulates mucus production and dilates the blood vessels, worsening runny nose and nasal congestion. Smoking, of course, irritates your eyes and respiratory system, making allergy symptoms worse.

Outdoor Exercise

Allergies should not force you to give up your outdoor exercise plan if you follow these guidelines.

- Avoid exercising early in the day, most pollens are emitted by plants between 5 a.m. and 10 a.m.

- Breathe through the nose, it is a natural air filter.
- Don't exercise in fields or meadows where irritating grasses and weeds grow.
- Bathe and wash your hair when you come in, especially before going to bed at night. Pollen clings to your hair and can rub off on your pillow and trigger allergies overnight. Wash your exercise clothes.
- Plan your activity around your allergy. After a rain is a good time for those allergic to pollen, but a bad time for those allergic to molds. Molds also tend to be worse in damp places, such as basements, by the pool and in the forest.
- If necessary, wear a particle mask, available at the hardware store; it will help filter the air. When mowing the lawn or gardening, glasses or sunglasses help protect eyes; washing eyes with artificial tears removes pollens.
- Take an antihistamine thirty minutes before outdoor activities.
- Stretch indoors to minimize time spent outside.

Travel

One way to avoid the source of your allergy is to literally leave it behind and travel to a region with better conditions. Since it usually takes about two years to develop allergies indigenous to any region, even short trips can be a step in the right direction. And, don't forget to pack an over-the-counter antihistamine and decongestant, or the medication prescribed by your doctor.

- If traveling by car, keep the windows closed. Select a mode of transportation that has air-conditioning.
- A beach anywhere is one of the best places to visit, especially along the Caribbean and American coastlines.
- In the United States, try to plan your destination in hot and dry areas. Among the best choices is rural Arizona.
- Areas of high elevation (i.e., over 5,000 feet) are good, as the altitude and relative cold reduce pollens and air-borne allergens. Mountain ranges and areas in Northern California are recommended vacation spots.
- Avoid camping and hiking in the woods, where mold growth on rotted logs and other vegetation is high. If camping is in your plans, make sure to wash your sleeping bags in very hot water before leaving.
- Try to clean beach houses and cabins early in the season, as mold and house dust mite levels increase during the off-season.
- At a spa, avoid the steamroom, another "hot spot" for mold growth.
- Hotel rooms should be cleaned daily to prevent mold and dust build-up, and always request smoke-free hotel rooms.
- When shopping, avoid antiques shops, where dust and mold can literally have hundreds of years to accumulate.

Gardening

If gardening gives you pleasure, there are ways to minimize discomfort if you have a green thumb and a red nose from allergies.

- Allergy-causing plants vary around the country, but there are some guidelines in identifying plants to select or avoid; e.g., showier plants pollinated by insects are better choices because these flowers' pollen grains are larger and less bothersome to most people. Less "attractive" plants rely on the wind for pollination, and thus have smaller pollen grains that can cause allergies through inhalation.
- In most areas of the country, the worst pollen-allergy causers are: Trees, including oak, olive, western red cedar, elms, birch, ash, hickory, pecan, poplar, sycamore, maple, cypress and walnut in the early spring, and then pollinating grasses such as timothy, Bermuda, orchard, sweet vernal and red top. Weeds, such as ragweed, sagebrush, pigweed, tumbleweed, nettle, dock, lambsquarters and cockleweed become a problem in the late spring and summer.
- Some believe you should select "nonallergic" plants for your garden which are less likely to cause allergy symptoms. Since pollens are carried by the wind, a neighbors plants can still affect you on a windy day. Remember that the allergic effect is increased with the concentration of the plants; go for variety in your plantings.
- Try these "sneezeless" plants recommended by the American Lung Association of California. Check with your local Agricultural Extension Service Office to confirm which thrive in your area:

- Trees: pine, pear, dogwood, plum, red bud, ginkgo, magnolia
- Shrubs: Hibiscus, Yucca, Pyrantha, Viburnum, boxwood
- Lawns: Dichondra, Irish moss and bunch grasses
- Flowers: poppy, peony, azalea, pansy,
- Bulbs: tulip, iris, Ranunculus, daffodil.
- Some gardeners with allergies use black plastic mulch instead of straw to keep down pollinating weeds, dust and mold growth.
- Have someone else mow the lawn and hoe the weeds along the edges of the garden regularly.
- Choose the time you garden carefully. Evenings are best, as plants have stopped pollinating. Right after a thunderstorm is a good time to garden for those with pollens allergies, but a bad time if you have mold allergies. Take an antihistamine thirty minutes before gardening.
- Some people find they need a particle mask (available at the pharmacy) for gardening.
- Watering the soil regularly and thoroughly with a sprinkler will keep dust and mold from rising.
- Wear gardening gloves and don't wipe your eyes while working outside.

If gardening gives you pleasure, there are ways to minimize discomfort if you have a green thumb and a red nose from allergies.

- Allergy-causing plants vary around the country, but there are some guidelines in identifying plants to select or avoid; e.g., showier plants pollinated by insects are better choices because these flowers' pollen grains are larger and less bothersome to most people. Less "attractive" plants rely on the wind for pollination, and thus have smaller pollen grains that can cause allergies through inhalation.
- In most areas of the country, the worst pollen-allergy causers are: Trees, including oak, olive, western red cedar, elms, birch, ash, hickory, pecan, poplar, sycamore, maple, cypress and walnut in the early spring, and then pollinating grasses such as timothy, Bermuda, orchard, sweet vernal and red top. Weeds, such as ragweed, sagebrush, pigweed, tumbleweed, nettle, dock, lambsquarters and cockleweed become a problem in the late spring and summer.
- Some believe you should select "nonallergic" plants for your garden which are less likely to cause allergy symptoms. Since pollens are carried by the wind, a neighbors plants can still affect you on a windy day. Remember that the allergic effect is increased with the concentration of the plants; go for variety in your plantings.

Six candidates will seek the title of Miss Lake County and one will become eligible to participate in the Miss Illinois pageant which ultimately leads to the Miss America title.

"This is our inaugural year," said Kristin Wheeler, organizer of the Lake County event for the Miss America organization.

"I wanted to have a representative who knew the area and could represent it well," she said of the county's initial candidates.

"It's about finding a woman of the 1990s who is talented, intelligent, and can be a role model for others," she said.

Presenting themselves for consideration are: Jennifer Christian, 18, of Lindenhurst; Rebecca Christophersen, 21, of Antioch; Elizabeth L. Craig, 22, of Libertyville; Melissa Fleming, 17, of Lindenhurst; Jennessa Dawn Lystlund, 21, of Zion; and, Maureen Mika, 17, of Wildwood.

performance. She will speak about the "Student Ambassador Program."

"Miss America is a scholarship program," Wheeler said. "Every year we give over $32 million to young women. We're the largest provider of scholarships to young women in the world."

The selected candidate on March 21 will obtain $300 of scholarship winnings. There are no entry fees or sponsorship fees which candidates have to pay to participate in this pageant activity.

Hostess for the pageant is Aimee Fuller. "She's the director of the Ms. Heart of Illinois program," said Wheeler. Ms. Heart of Illinois is also a preliminary event for the Miss Illinois and Miss America pageant.

"We have entertainment being provided by the Dance Connection of Lake County," Wheeler said. The Spot Light Dance Company will be the actual group to perform.

"They are an award-winning dance company," she said.

Pageant participants will provide entertainment during the evening as part of their evening routine. In addition, Fuller will sing a song.

Tickets are $5 and are available from Wheeler and members of the Spot Light Dance Company. Tickets will be $7.50 at the door.

"Miss America can expect to earn about $80,000 in scholarship money," said Wheeler. "I used to compete when I was in college, and it helped me get through college."

Churchill, Salvi vie for Secretary of State job

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

Election time is here again, and two local powerhouses vie for the position of Secretary of State. Republican primary candidates Bob Churchill and Al Salvi have both staked a claim to this office. Now the people must decide.

Churchill, a state representative for the 62nd District, has held the position since 1983 and looks to remain a staple in the Springfield political scene.

Churchill has three daughters with his wife, Sandra, and currently resides in Lake Villa.

In addition to his tour of duty as State Representative, Churchill held the position of Lake Villa Trustee, and was a Republican National Nominating Convention Delegate in 1980, 1992 and 1996.

Stressing efficiency and economy, and remaining tough on drunk driving, Churchill's politics are very similar to those of Gov. Jim Edgar.

Rep., Waukegan

Churchill has approximately 30 cats in his barn, and has recently come under fire for that fact, but he explains that the barn give the cats a warm place to live, rather than roaming around unwanted.

Salvi, a practicing lawyer in Waukegan, began his political career as a downstate Republican candidate for congress in 1986.

He was first elected to the Illinois General Assembly in 1992 and won an upset victory in the March 1996 Republican primary, defeating Lt. Governor Bob Kustra.

In addition, Salvi ran, unsuccessfully, for election as a U.S. Senator in 1996.

Salvi has traditionally been pro-family and anti-tax, with an emphasis on reforming our school system. He has sponsored anti-crime and anti-drug legislation, and has historically fought to eliminate wasteful government spending.

The Republican Primary, March 17, will give voters the chance to decide.

Lake County Sheriff race comes down to wire

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

The Lake County Sheriff's race is heating up, and Republican candidate Willie Ray Smith is vying with incumbent Sheriff Gary Del Re for the position.

Smith is a lifelong resident of Lake County, has two adult sons and resides in Antioch with his wife, Haidee Vazquez, and their young son.

Active in local law enforcement since 1969, Smith was most recently Captain Commanding officer of Lake County Sheriff Marine Unit Patrol, a position he held from 1994 to October of 1997.

Smith is active in a number of affiliations and organizations, including First Chairman of the Board of Lake County Major Crimes Task Force, he is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 66; and is a member of the Lake County Chiefs of Police Association.

"My first priority is to review the Sheriff's budget in order to maximize the spent dollars in actual service provided to the public sector," said Smith. "I want as many patrol officers as possible patrolling our communities."

Del Re, currently recuperating after quadruple bypass surgery, began his law enforcement career in 1973 as a police officer with the Buffalo Grove Police Department.

He has instituted County-wide programs such as the Gang Unit, Major Crime Task Force, Child Advocacy Center and Bike Patrol, among others. Del Re has affiliations and memberships with a number of organizations including the National Sheriff's Association.

"As Sheriff, I will continue to seek out new and innovative ways to work in harmony with others toward solving the wide range of difficult and ever-changing problems that confront us all," said Del Re.

County voters will decide on this spirited race in the March 17 primary.

Republicans compete for Dist. 62

Osmond and Petersen hope to fill seat vacated by Churchill

By LEON FILAS
Staff Reporter

Voters in Illinois State District 62 will decide who will be representing them in the state house in the March 17 primary.

With the seat being vacated due to Bob Churchill running for Secretary of State, two men are stepping forward to try and fill the seat.

Timothy Osmond and Paul Petersen are the two men vying for the republican nomination to the house. With democrats in the district not producing a candidate, whoever wins the primary will win the seat vacated by Churchill.

Osmond has been the Antioch Township Supervisor for the last year, after being a township trustee for eight years. He is also a republican precinct committeeman. Petersen, on the other hand, has never held a formal office, yet was defeated in his bid to become a Lake County Board member six years ago.

Petersen claims, due to his never holding a position, he is un-bought and un-bossed.

"I have no political baggage to haul around," Petersen claims. "I have no political bosses to answer to. I am un-bought and un-bossed."

Osmond

Osmond, who has officially picked up the endorsement of Churchill for his vacated seat, said he deserves the candidacy due to his past performance.

"I believe that my past governmental positions, my community service and my professional business experience enable me to do a good job representing the 62nd District," said Osmond.

In schooling, Osmond believes that the school reform bill passed last year is a step in the right direction, while Petersen is stating that it needs to be re-addressed, due to the bill depending on "sin taxes."

Both, also, just want to become part of the process to make the laws.

"I want to become part of the process," Osmond stated about running for the vacated seat. "I think I would be challenged by the position. I would like to help keep the 62nd District the best area of the state."

"After 16 years of mediocre representation, it is time for a true man of the people to go to Springfield to represent the interests of the people instead of the fat cat lobbyists," said Petersen of his bid.

Crane and McSweeney battle for eighth Congressional seat

McSweeney and incumbent Crane have many similar views

By LEON FILAS
Staff Reporter

Voters will decide this week which candidate will represent them in the US Congress for the 8th Congressional District of Illinois in the March 17 primary.

The incumbent, Phil Crane, has been the main stay at the position, seeking his 16th re-election bid. Crane has been in office for 28 years, being elected to the position in 1969.

Opposed to Crane is David McSweeney, a trustee of Palatine Township and professional businessman. He is seeking his first term for the office.

Both men have similar views yet with varying degrees of changes in legislation.

Both men would like to see radical changes in the Internal Revenue Service, both pushing for a flat tax rate for all people.

"I favor abolishing the IRS and the current tax code by October 1, 2001, and replacing it at that time with a fairer 'flat tax' with a $25,000 exemption for a married couple and a $5,000 exemption for each dependent," said McSweeney.

On the other side, Crane, through his spokesperson Kirt Johnson, said, "We are absolutely in favor of changing the IRS. Congressman Crane was the first to push for a flat tax and reform the current tax code."

Both men also agree that the sanctions against the Iraqi government should not be lifted, yet McSweeney said that President Clinton is placing too much reliance on achieving unified UN action.

Also, both men agree that the Department of Education in the federal government should be abolished and disbanded.

"The department of education should be disbanded," said Johnson.

"The money should be kept in the states so local community and parents should make the decision on how the money is spent."

"The Department of Education should be abolished, not only to cut unnecessary federal spending, but also as part of a program I believe is essential to getting the federal government out of local education," said McSweeney.

Yet, as the time comes, with so many similar issues, both men step forward and explain why they are the better candidate.

"Phil Crane has proven he has effective leadership and has lived up to his past campaign pledges to reduce spending and the federal tax burden for the people," Johnson stated. "He has been doing the job that the people have elected him to do."

"As a Palatine Trustee, there's no doubt in my mind that I have the background, governmental experience and strong commitment to conservative principals to do the job in the responsive, responsible way voters want it done," said McSweeney.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Park City rocked by murder

Park City—A peaceful evening in Park City was interrupted by gunfire which resulted from a domestic dispute. Diego Acosta, age 16, of Waukegan, is being charged as an adult in the March 4 murder of Eduardo Avila.

"Most residents have been pretty understanding that this is an isolated incident between two people who are not from Park City arguing about a girlfriend," Mayor Rob Allen said.

Police recovered the weapon which Acosta is believed to have used. Acosta, had tossed the weapon in a nearby woods, as he tried to flee the murder scene in the 500 block of West Street.

Acosta is being held without bond at Lake County's juvenile detention center. Avila, age 19, was pronounced dead by Lake County Coroner's office approximately 10:30 p.m.

Pool tournament Mar. 22

Lindenhurst—Lindenhurst Men's Club hosts their first "King of the Hill" pool tournament March 22 at 1 p.m. at the Thor Neumann Center.

The tournament is open to members and guests, males and females, according to Bob Pabst, tournament organizer.

"It is straight eight-ball, call shots," he said.

People who wish to play can sign-up starting at noon.

"It's a five dollar entry fee. All prize money will be divided up based on the number of entries," he said.

"It is a double elimination with a winners and losers bracket," he said.

"We have some door prizes," he said. "You don't have to be a winner of the tournament to win."

Library's future in voters' hands

Libertyville—It's been debated for the last three months, and now the future of the Cook Memorial Library District is in the hands of those it serves — the voters.

On March 17, district voters will decide whether or not to approve a $19.1 million bond issue. The money will be garnered from an increase of the library tax rate, from .25 percent to .40 percent. Library district officials have said they intend to use the funds to renovate the existing downtown Cook Library building, build a second, 88,000 square foot library in Vernon Hills and operate both facilities through the year 2020.

The tax rate change will increase property taxes paid on a $200,000 home by $94.75 in the first year of the bond issue.

Children's museum takes lease

Fox Lake—The Art Works Children's Museum now has a home.

With the unanimous approval by the Board of Trustees of the Village of Fox Lake, the Art Works Children's Museum will be taking over the lease for the old Fox Lake Lions Club, across from South Marrin Street in Fox Lake.

"This is a great addition to the town," Mayor Jim Pappas stated about the museum. "This goes a long way into inspiring the image that we want of our downtown district."

The lease between the village and the Art Works is a one year lease running from March 11, 1998 through March 11, 1999. The rent of the building will be $1140 per month.

Fire in fireplace flue

Wauconda—While several members of the Wauconda Fire Department were stationed in Tower Lakes on March 9 in response to the standoff situation of Chicago Bear Alonzo Spellman, the department received a fire call at approximately 5:30 p.m.

A young visitor of a home in the Tamarack subdivision called 911 and reported she had just started a fire in a fireplace, which caused the home to fill with smoke, fire reports said. Fire crews responding to the call noticed heavy smoke conditions and a fire on the roof and attic, located above the ceiling level in the area surrounding the flue vent of the wood burning fireplace, authorities said.

Fire crews made entry into the first and second floors of the home and extinguished a roof and attic fire, officials said. The residents had been evacuated prior to the fire crews arrival, and no injuries were sustained. Estimated damage to the residence and its contents is $75,000. The cause of the fire was determined to be accidental and attributed to the overheating of the fireplace flue vent, authorities said.

Regional Champs!

Village joins IL MainStreet

Mundelein—Mundelein Pride, a downtown revitalization organization was notified earlier this week that it had been accepted into the Illinois Suburban MainStreet program, making it only the second community, next to neighboring Libertyville, to have that distinction in Lake County.

Pride and Mundelein officials were overjoyed with the news that Mundelein had been chosen to be a part of the program which will help solidify its downtown revitalization plans by providing training and support services. Those resources will become evident when MainStreet officials stop by Mundelein March 19 for a day-long visit, meeting Pride and Village officials, speaking about the programs it can offer and touring the downtown area.

"I think it is exciting news for Mundelein," said Mundelein Trustee Raymond Semple. "This is great news for Mundelein Pride." Said John Maguire, Pride's executive director, "This is a goal we have achieved after main years of planning, but really, we are now ready to start the renovation program that we have been speaking about for so long."

Three vying for Dist. 15 seat

Libertyville—Voters in county board district 15 will decide who will represent them on the county board in the March 17 primary.

Incumbent Carol Calabrese, current Libertyville Township supervisor F.T. "Mike" Graham and former village of Libertyville trustee Bob Ostroga are all vying for the position.

Library hosts "Celebrate the Arts"

Lake Villa—Lake Villa District Library will "Celebrate the Arts" Saturday, March 21 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with free, hands-on activities, entertainment, and refreshments for all ages.

"Every year the library plans a special event for the community," said Liz Rifkin, head of community services for the library district. "Our theme for the day revolves around bringing arts to the community in a variety of media."

"Last year, 'Pioneer Days on the Prairie' drew a crowd of almost 1900 people," Rifkin said. "Celebrate the Arts" is open to the entire community.

Events start at various times through the day. Eight events start off "Celebrate the Arts" at 10 a.m. Five begin at 11 a.m., three at noon and at 1 p.m. The library has a detailed schedule of events for people.

The library district will sponsor a retirement party for Art Gulati of the district staff from 1 until 3 p.m. The public is invited to stop by for the open house.

Jar of napalm found in closet

Round Lake—According to reports compiled between the Round Lake Beach Police and the Round Lake Area Fire Protection District, a mason jar full of an unidentified blue putty that police and fire officials believed to be napalm, was found in the closet of David Lee, 17, of 1406 Lotus Drive in Round Lake Beach.

The napalm, a homemade blue gel incendiary device, was taken to a sanitary waste disposal district site on Sunset Avenue in RLB and detonated by the Waukegan Bomb Squad. No one was injured during the event.

According to Round Lake Beach Police Deputy Chief Jim Simoncelli, the substance was discovered in Lee's closet by Lee's family while they were evicting Lee from the premises.

Jaycees spot bowling fundraiser

Antioch—The Jaycees will sponsor a fund-raiser at Antioch Bowling Lanes to raise funds to send physically and mentally handicapped children to Camp New-Hope.

The bowling fund-raiser is Saturday, March 21 at 4 p.m.

The cost is $40 a couple which includes three games of Scotch Doubles plus dinner in the Tower Room. There are a limited number of bowlers that can be accommodated. Early sign-up is encouraged by the Antioch Jaycees.

Camp New-Hope provides youngsters with many activities including outdoor sports, games, and crafts. It teaches the camper independence and sportsmanship.

Children who attend Camp New-Hope must be sponsored by a local Jaycee chapter. For the past five years, Antioch Jaycees have sent three or four campers each year.

Grayslake has new director

Grayslake—Grayslake's Downtown Merchant's and Heritage Association (GDMHA) has a new executive director.

Jerry Badgerow, will take the place of Lisa Heaton, who in January, announced her retirement from the post. Heaton had held the position since its inception two years ago.

"I'm retired, after many years with Skokie Valley (asphalt) and I've been kicking around the idea of doing something part time. I like people and know a lot of the merchants," said Badgerow of his new job.

The GDMHA is a private organization for merchants of the downtown historic area. It promotes events to spotlight downtown and attract customers.

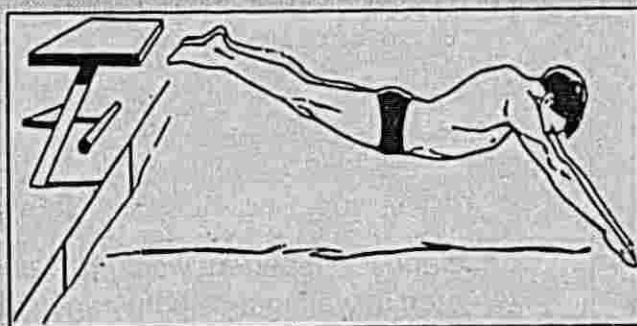

Currently there are 55 members in the group out of an approximate number of 70 existing business in the core downtown area.

EDITORIALS

Osmond, Smith can bring leadership

U.S. Congress Dist. 8

Congressman Phil Crane, who represents the 8th Dist. that includes west Lake County, is a respected senior in the Republican party with a long record of service that needs no apologies. Crane has responded with dignity and reserve to the vicious attacks of David McSweeney, a young investment banker who is attempting to dislodge Crane.

We think McSweeney has failed to make a case that Crane's time is past. The campaign draws a telling difference between experience and reckless youth. Some of McSweeney's charges are reprehensible. Phil Crane still is the heart and soul of conservative Republicanism. He is able to serve and lead.

We recommend Crane's renomination without reservation.

Secretary of State

Bob Churchill and Al Salvi represent two different wings of the Illinois Republican party—the establishment and the independent.

Churchill

While both are qualified to handle the administrative duties of the secretary of state office they seek, the two Lake County residents undoubtedly would approach the job differently.

Churchill, a product of the GOP establishment that has maintained power in Springfield for two decades, can be expected to follow the safe, traditional approach adhered to by Gov. Jim Edgar when he served as secretary of state, stressing efficiency and economy with a hard line on drunk driving.

As a born legislator, Salvi unquestionably would bring imagination and verve to the office. A strong indication of this are some of his campaign proposals such as issuing a "special" schoolhouse license plate to benefit education and a proposal to save the state $8.3 million by eliminating the front license plate. No endorsement here.

Salvi

State Representative Dist. 62

If you have liked the leadership provided by Bob Churchill for the past 18 years, then you'll like Tim Osmond. He is Churchill's hand-picked successor and he will rely on Churchill to learn issues facing the state and for voting guidance.

Osmond is either refreshing or frustrating, depending on your opinion, in his knowledge of the issues. He admits he needs to learn and speaks openly and honestly about his lack of current knowledge. Osmond adds however, that he will turn to local community experts to tutor him. This may not be all bad.

Paul Petersen is going against the grain in this race. He has working knowledge of the issues but his answers don't add up. For example, he says the roads in Illinois are terrible but also says the Tollway Authority has done a pretty good job.

We give Osmond our support.

State Representative Dist. 52

Mike Salvi has shown in his second run for this seat that he won't be beholden to the wishes of the Republican party bosses. Sidney Mathias of Buffalo Grove is the hand-picked Clayton successor.

The other two candidates, Ray Ivancic and Mark Riefenberg haven't gained attention in the race as the forerunners.

We recommend Salvi. He's determined, hard working and will work hard for family goals and conservative principles.

Lake County Sheriff

Gary Del Re is a well-educated law enforcement veteran and knows how to get along with his county political bosses. He was the successor party leaders sought for Clint Grinnell. However, Del Re's short-term in office appears to have been just an extension of Grinnell's tenure. He has a great deal of ability and the ability to learn and grow.

Willie Ray Smith is a career lawman. He spent 30 years in the sheriff's office working his way up from the bottom. He knows every road in Lake County, he knows every department and he knows how to live within a budget.

Smith demonstrates refreshing ideas on how to get more "bang for the buck" in Lake County and favors the increased use of inter-governmental agreements to beef up patrols throughout the county.

Del Re is a good sheriff.

Smith has the knowledge, both formal and street smarts, and the grit to be a great sheriff.

We endorse Smith.

VIEWPOINT

Balance imperiled by modern politics

Balance may be another casualty of modern politics, particularly at the state level in Illinois. In crafting general election slates, leaders in both parties historically weighed heavily geography, religion, affiliations, ethnicity, etc. The reason is obvious—to present as broad a spectrum of society as possible.

Irish Catholics in Cook County dominated Democratic politics. Traditionally, Republicans liked candidates with a "son" on the end of their surname. Both parties liked to match up Chicago area aspirants with a downstate favorite. In recent years, gender has been given careful consideration in slate shaping. Wide open primaries on both parties have resulted in massive alterations in the political face of Illinois.

A historic turn looms in the March 17 primary where the possibility has arisen that three African-Americans will garner the top three spots on the Democratic ballot. Incumbent U.S. Senator Carol Moseley-Braun, first black woman to serve in the U.S. Senate, is running without opposition. Durable black politician Roland W. Burris has an excellent chance of being nominated for governor. Jesse White, recognized as a leader in the black community before his political success, has a good chance of winning his party's secretary of state nomination.

Considering the past success of Moseley-Braun and Burris, a former comptroller and attorney-general, general election voters have long since transcended racial barriers. Now the question becomes, will they jettison ballot balance? That's the intriguing question of the March 17 primary.

Hardball politics

Both sides in the close race for the Republican nomination for sheriff

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

are playing hardball. Backers of Gary Del Re are whispering that Willie Ray Smith is a throwback to the corrupt administration nearly two decades ago of Sheriff Tom Brown. Smith supporters are painting Del Re as a protege of a defrocked county chairman.

Bear icon

All-time Chicago Bear great status is being predicted for Jim Flanigan, headliner for the '98 Health and Fitness Fair Saturday, March 28, at College of Lake County. Armed with a long-term contract, a winning personality and all-pro line-man qualifications, Flanigan can rank with the Payton, Singletary, Butkus and Luckman.

Sponsored by Lakeland Publishers Inc. and CLC, the fair is a multi-dimensional event appealing to all ages, especially young football fans who can get Flanigan's autograph. Hint to the youngsters: ask Jim about his charitable foundation. That's a favorite topic for the good-looking ex-Notre Dame star.

Retiring on top

Retiring State Rep. Jack L. Kubik (R-LaGrange Park) made the best argument for term limitation we've ever heard. "Make a contribution and go home," asserted Kubik, who is leaving the Illinois General Assembly voluntarily after serving seven illustrious terms representing a west suburban district. Kubik, 42, spoke at a testimonial in his honor at Lombard. The earnest lawmaker, assistant minority leader, is highly respected on both sides of the aisle. Kubik made noteworthy advances in property tax reform, free speech issues, help for seniors and rights of the disabled.

Question of greatness

The success of the 1998 University of Illinois basketball team, Big Ten co-champs, has raised a question among local fans whether Libertyville's Matt Heldman belongs in the company of former Lake County hardwood greats.

This column responds in the affirmative for the three point marksman and floor leader of the Illini. This would put Heldman in the company of such county luminaries as Antioch's Dale Barnstable (U. of Kentucky); Otto Graham of Waukegan, who starred at Northwestern; another NU alum, Billy McKinney of Zion who has an illustrious NBA career; Geno Malchiorri, who went from Highland Park High to lead Bradley to national prominence in the 50s; superb floorman and sharpshooter Denny Freund of Wauconda, who upheld DePaul's traditions and two Waukegan grads who enjoyed NBA careers, 6-11 Jerome Whitehead, a star at Marquette, and Corky Calhoun, an Ivy League standout at Penn after his prep days.

If Lake County basketball historians think I missed anyone, get in touch and let me know your nomination. We'll be happy to share. The criteria is a local prep star who became a marquee player in a Division I program.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKE LAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Ratfelters neglecting spending disclosure rules

With less than two weeks to go before primary election day (at this writing), Mark Ratfelters had yet to file required campaign finance disclosure forms in his drive to unseat County Board Rep. Al Westerman (R-Warren Township).

Ratfelters, who is trained to be precise in his banking profession, was creating wonderment both among foes and his supporters, including Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton.

As a self-professed watchdog of taxation, Ratfelters has been spending freely for mailings and a headquarters. A fundraiser was held early enough to have triggered required disclosure reports.

Westerman supporters were delighted that Ratfelters came out against a proposed bond issue to replenish Forest Preserve land acquisition funds. Westerman has been talking up public land acquisition as the best means of stemming unbridled growth, recognizing need for more forest land as a hot button issue.

Chairman sweepstakes

Selection of the next Lake County Board chairman is a long way ahead, but the early form chart is putting incumbent chairman Bob Grever, and two Republican regulars, David Stohlman and Pam Newton, in the running.

Payback time

Jon McKendry of Lake Bluff, an able Republican precinct committeeman, has more at stake than wrestling a County Board nomination from incumbent Mary Beattie. McKendry, a member of the Salvi clan through marriage, can settle an old score by besting Beattie, who directed Lake Forest neighbors to take a pass two years ago in the general election when Jon's brother-in-law, Al Salvi, was the GOP nominee for U.S. Senate.

Grever

Stohlman

Newton

Embroided in three-way race for county board chairman

Precinct warfare

Brad Muse says he sees the hand of Grant Township Supervisor

Gordon Klesgen directing traffic in Republican precinct affairs in the Tuesday, March 17 primary. Muse says his opponent, Robert Selle, was prompted by Klesgen to run against him for a precinct post.

Sparce pickings

If you've ever wondered why the Democrats aren't a stronger party in Lake County, take a look at their precinct committee roster. In Tuesday's primary, they'll have a ballot void for committeeman in five of 18 townships—Antioch, Avon, Cuba (Barrington), Ela (Lake Zurich) and Grant. They've got only one filed precinct candidate in each of three townships—Benton, Fremont and Wauconda. Only two Democrats filed for Warren Township's 37 precincts.

Different style, party

The name's the same (last), but there the similarity ends. Peggy Shorts, Democratic candidate for the Lake County Board, is the step-daughter-in-law of Alice Banas Shorts, who served on the County Board 20 years ago as a Republican. Alice was known for her stylish attire and outspoken demeanor. Peggy is thoughtful and reserved.

No free lunches

Once again, Republicans have found out that there is no such thing as a free lunch. The Antioch Association of Retired Persons knows otherwise. Their free lunch March 10 was courtesy of District 1 candidate Linda Pedersen who took a graceful way out. Pedersen had wanted to sponsor a lunch at which she would introduce herself to AARP members. Non-political AARP invited Pedersen's opponents Michael Mortensen and incumbent Judy Martini. Pedersen declined the opportunity to underwrite a forum for her opponents. However, she personally stood by her offer to pay for lunch.

Sports nicknames are getting WILD

News flash: The Chicago Cubs are moving to the Philippines where they will be known as the Manila Folders.

Another scoop: Latrell Sprewell, the Golden State Warriors' basketball player who attacked, choked and threatened to kill his coach, and got off with a slap on the wrist, will be traded to the Boston Celtics. The Celtics will change their name to the Boston Stranglers.

Well, okay, here's a true story: Basketball's Washington Bullets decided to revise their name so it wouldn't include a symbol of violence; and some wits suggested, well, drop the name Washington.

Instead, they became the Washington Wizards, which doesn't exactly reflect the kind of thinking we associate with our nation's capital.

The science of nicknaming sports teams has taken an uncomfortable turn. The old-fashioned way was to name them after animals, both ferocious and friendly; after birds, both big and little; and birds of various colors.

Teams were named after cowboys and Indians, saints and devils, all kinds of canines and every cat in the jungle. But now owners seem more intent on making a one-word historical or sociological statement that fits their particular community.

Soccer teams include the New England Revolution, the San Jose Clash, the Los Angeles Galaxy, the Tampa Bay Mutiny, the Dallas Burn and the Chicago Fire. Also, adding to the confusion, is the Miami Fusion, whatever that's supposed to mean.

Basketball has the Miami Heat, the Orlando Magic and the Toronto Raptors. I had to look up raptor; it's a bird of prey.

In hockey, Minnesota is calling its new team the Wild. Other new hockey teams are the Atlanta Thrashers and the Nashville Predators.

A thrasher is not only someone who flogs another, it's also a

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

bird. But what do predators have to do with Nashville? Why not the Garths or the Dollies?

If the Chicago Bears move to Schaumburg, perhaps they should reflect their new hometown and be renamed the Schaumburg Gridlock.

Most of our Lakeland area high schools have good old-fashioned mascots: Rams, Mustangs, Blue Devils, Panthers, Wildcats, Bulldogs and, in Lake Zurich, the Bears.

In Antioch it's the Sequoits, an Indian word for "winding." Sequoit Creek winds through Antioch, which may have the only teams in the world named for a prolonged puddle.

It's sad the way schools with teams nicknamed in honor of Indians have caved in to a few dilettante do-gooders and surrendered the traditions they treasured. My alma mater, Marquette University, wimped out and went from being Warriors to Golden Eagles.

Goofy gadflies who should get a life keep pressuring the University of Illinois to dump its marvelous mascot, Chief Illiniwek. For almost 70 years students playing the chief have done a dramatic war dance at games; it's one of the most colorful and emotional traditions in sports.

Illinois hasn't caved, nor have baseball's Cleveland Indians and Atlanta Braves or football's Washington Redskins.

Chippewa Indian leaders once surveyed 3,000 members of their tribe and found that the vast majority "view the use of Indian names as a point of pride if used respectfully and in good taste."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Had enough? Vote none-of-the-above on Tuesday

With the primary election soon upon us, are you fed up with all the rhetoric like I am? Are you so sick of candidates that promise the world but can't deliver a pizza? Is the negative campaigning getting so bad you think you are watching a daytime TV talk show?

One campaign ad is so bad it must be sanctioned by the World Wrestling Foundation. Another ad is so full of it, it should be thrown out with the cat litter. There is so much mud slinging, I went out and bought some hip boots.

Therefore, if you are fed up with the current political parties, join the "None-of-the-above" party. We at the "none-of-the-above" party take no campaign funds because we have no candidate. We break no promises because we make none. We will not debate any issues because we truly have nothing to say. We will not even feel your pain. We do believe in affirmative action. We affirm some sort of action should be done, but heck, what can we do about it, we are in politics.

So, let us send a strong signal to the current political parties and truly put a real nobody in office. Vote "none-of-the-above." The real do nothing party.

Sponsored by your local Pat Paulsen fan club.

Give Peterson power

Just a brief note of thanks to Ill. State Senator William E. Peterson for the admirable and consistent representation you continuously afford your constituents with your political expertise, coupled with your high values and standards in the 26th district.

As a long time resident, and now a Route 22 Bypass Committee member of Lake Zurich, you are always there to either take a phone call, return a call, answer a letter and/or attend a meeting, giving your experienced help and advice when called upon.

It is also refreshing to know, should you not be available at the time, your office is in very competent hands with your Executive Assistant, Jan Zibus, who equally is always willing to help give guidance.

And to the voters, it is extremely important that we get the "vote out in record number" in order to give Senator Peterson the "ammunition of power" when he goes to Springfield to represent the 26th District."

Claudette J. Dyback
Lake Zurich resident

Support Calabresa

You can usually tell who the candidates think will win by who they choose to attack. Carol Calabresa, endorsed for County Board by the Sierra Club, many other grass roots groups, and the Tribune, continues to draw fire in the form of half truths. Her Ostroga "friends" from the Republican party were so out of touch that they had to conduct a telephone poll before their campaign sprouted leaves. Now they try to pin the stripping of Cuneo on her, despite her objections to that Depke super-majority approval. Criticism from Graham, her other opponent, for the same event fails to own up to his responsibility. While we appreciate his motives and his arguments, his strong-arm methods in the pre-1990 County Board are party to blame for the costly fall from popularity of land preservation, and for the reign of "Bulldozer" Bob Depke until 1996.

Likewise, Calabresa's actions to rescue 200 acres from Grainger, and her recent outreach to rescue Libertyville High School's 40 acre St. Mary's Road land, have been grossly distorted and misrepresented.

As clearly proven by the recent Crossroads Study, our transportation woes will be made worse, not better, by Route 53. Carol Calabresa has long realized that, that simplistic proposal, while destroying Forest Preserves, and critical open space, will be a $1 billion invitation to new development and more congestion. Now that IDOT has decided to take "two years to re-evaluate the need for extending the tollway through Lake County," it's becoming increasingly clear that we need more than a "moderate" candidate. We need this informed County Board member.

Carol Calabresa has been a general on the field for the quality of our Lake County through much adversity. She deserves our support on the Republican ballot on March 17.

Evan Craig
Chair, Woods & Wetlands Group of the Sierra Club

O'Kelly deserves vote

Diana O'Kelly has received the endorsements of the two leading environmental groups in Lake County. For those of us who enjoy open space, green grass, and a relaxed quality of life so typical of Lake County, these endorsements are the most significant that a candidate can receive. They are testimony to her strong stand against the "no limit to development" lobby that is attempting to take control of Lake County.

Diana has long recognized that a stand against uncontrolled development is a stand against congestion, crime, pollution, crowded classrooms and higher taxes. She deserves your vote for the county board seat for District 10.

Bob Bohl
Mundelein

Letters to the editor are welcome. They should be on topics of general interest, approximately 250 words or less. All letters must be signed, and contain a home address and telephone number. The editor reserves the right to condense all letters.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

There are only two kinds of people

There are two kinds of people on earth today. Just two kinds of people, that's all I say.

Not the happy and sad, for the quickly flying years
Bring each one his laughter, and each one his tears

Not the rich and the poor, for to know a man's wealth
You must first know the state of his conscience and health

No—the two kinds of people on earth that I mean

Are the people that lift, and the people that lean

In which class are you? Are you easing the load, of overworked lifters who toil down the road?

Or are you a leaner who lets others bear,
Your portion of service and labor and care?

—Unknown

A colleague gave me this little poem a few weeks ago. I felt the main thought was worth sharing and I think you'll agree there are differences between lifters and leaners.

The difference between

• Leaners wrestle a gorilla until they get tired. Lifters wrestle the gorilla until the gorilla gets tired.

• Leaners always have an excuse. "I would have done better, but..." "I could have finished if..." "I'd like to do more, but..." My cousin says, "If ifs and buts were candy and nuts, we'd all have a Merry Christmas." Lifters don't make excuses. They don't fix blame, they fix problems.

• Leaners develop a leaner's vocabulary. Leaners say, "We tried that before," "It won't work," "This is good enough," and "I'll do it later." Lifters talk positively. Phrases like, "Together we can," "Let's do it now," "I'll help you," and "We'll find a way," are common lifter's words.

• Leaners try once. Lifters try again.

• Leaners compare their efforts with other leaners. It's the I'm OK, you're OK syndrome. However, equal doesn't mean excellent. Lifters compare themselves with other lifters. If you want to be the best, you must learn from the best.

• Leaners go with the flow. They follow the path of least resistance. Lifters direct the flow and create a path for others to follow.

• Leaners are satisfied with meeting quota. They do just enough to get by. Lifters are achievers. They start their own engines. They don't rely on others for their personal motivation.

• Leaners are quick to pass the buck. "It's not my fault," "I didn't do it," and "It's not my job," are standard leaner's laments. Lifters take responsibility for their actions and help others become accountable.

• Leaners would rather cause problems than do actual work. Lifters solve problems and don't consider it work.

• Leaners are active. Lifters are productive. (If you haven't learned the difference between activity and productivity, look both words up.)

• Leaners criticize. Lifters praise.

Anthony Pontiac helps to keep kids safe

The world froze on the evening of Dec. 4, 1993, as Polly Klaas, the beautiful girl shown smiling in home videos for millions of TV viewers, was found dead in Cloverdale, Calif. Abducted 65 days earlier from her bedroom as her mother slept in the next room, America's Child symbolized much that is wrong with our society.

Polly's father, Mark Klaas, is now the founder of the Klaas Foundation for Children, a nationally recognized advocate for protecting children against violence.

Klaas Foundation child safety programs are designed to promote awareness and education for parents and children in an effort to protect children against violence.

Goals for the Klaas Foundation include: to provide nationwide parental awareness and child safety information; to encourage partnerships between neighborhoods, law enforcement, organizations, and the private sector that create safe, crime free communities; and to promote legislative reform that effectively protects children from abuse, neglect and abduction.

Klaas will be speaking at a Town Hall meeting to be held Monday, March 16, at Anthony Pontiac GMC Buick, 2727 Belvidere Rd., Route 120, Waukegan, at 7:30 p.m. From 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., parents can bring their children in to participate in the Photo and Fingerprint ID Program.

One of the tools used to protect children is the Photo and Fingerprint ID Program. This program, designed by the Secret Service to protect the President, includes photographs, a fingerprint card, identification section for parents to fill out; safety tips for parents and children and community action tips. The packet remains in the parents' possession and provides a proven action plan to follow if their child disappears, plus the necessary information to launch an investigation and produce a missing child flier.

The Photo and Fingerprint ID Program uses no ink or film. It is free and the information is for parents' records only. It will not be distributed to anyone. For more information, call Michael Washko at 244-1010.

Early delivery available on homes at The Conservancy

A combination of custom homes and new 1998 pricing has created tailor-made deals for buyers at The Conservancy in Gurnee.

Four homes are available for immediate delivery at the community being developed by Rembrandt Homes, the custom division of Sundance Homes. Those who buy one of these four houses can move in within 30 days, said Joseph Edmeier, president of Rembrandt Homes.

The homes available for immediate delivery are the 2,680 square-foot Rhapsody for $253,577; the 3,085 square-foot Sonata for $304,040; the 2,780 square-foot Crescendo for $295,990.

"These homes are beautiful examples of the type of living residents enjoy at The Conservancy," Edmeier said. "Special incentives on these homes for immediate delivery can undoubtedly help buyers make their dream home a reality."

One of the homes, the Rhapsody, features two stories with four bedrooms; 2 1/2 baths; central foyer with hardwood floors; kitchen with cooktop island, walk-in pantry and butler's pantry; breakfast area; family room with fireplace/entertainment center; first-floor den; master bedroom with sitting area; vaulted ceiling in the bath; separate shower and double-bowl vanity; three other bedrooms served by a hall bath; nine-foot ceilings on the first floor; central air conditioning; basement; first-floor laundry room and attached two-car garage.

"The elegance at The Conservancy is something we're very proud of and we believe residents are proud, too," Edmeier said. "The neighbor care deeply about their community and it shows. They have a tremendous amount of respect for their neighbors and take pride in their homes. These are things that money can't buy."

The Conservancy will include 98 homes when complete, ranging from 1,650 to 3,118 square feet, priced from $209,900.

The community is enhanced by an 11-acre nature preserve. Residents enjoy serenity amid mature trees, a park with a pond and gazebo near the entrance.

"The homes themselves are breathtaking, but we've made a real effort to insure the natural surroundings remain intact," Edmeier said. "We realize those features are priceless to some buyers, especially those who have longed for everything a custom home has to offer."

The amenities near The Conservancy are priceless, as well. Lake County offers numerous parks and lakes, as well as recreational activities including riding stables, golf courses and Six Flags Great America amusement park.

Shopping enthusiasts enjoy Gurnee Mills outlet mall and a variety of stores along Illinois Hwy. 132, which also features countless restaurants.

The community is near Int. Hwy. 94 and commuter train service providing access to the Chicago Loop and O'Hare International Airport.

To visit The Conservancy, take Int. Hwy. 94 to Ill. Hwy. 132 west to Route 45 south to Washington Street east to Hillview Drive. Sales center hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily or evenings by appointment. For more information, call 223-2358.

Home ownership can become a tax advantage

In 1995, more 116 million individuals filed a federal income tax return, according to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Of these, approximately 88.8 million received a refund, while 27.5 million were left digging through their pockets and wondering if they utilized every tax deduction.

"It's no secret homeowners receive significant tax advantages compared to renters," said Tim Cranston, vice president regional manager for the Grayslake area of Norwest Mortgage, Inc. the nation's leading provider of home mortgages. "Basically, renters are not eligible for any federal property or real estate tax deductions, while state deductions are few and far between."

Federal and many state tax laws allow homeowners to claim deductions for all real estate property taxes and interest paid on mortgages every year. For example, a homeowner with a $115,000 home can deduct all or their real estate taxes accrued during the year, approximately $1,500—plus $8,000 in mortgage interest—for a total deduction of $9,500.

Cranston also noted that timing can affect your tax return. "Closing during the first of the year allows you to deduct a portion of your property taxes and interest, and occasionally any points—as long as they are paid in advance. It also gives you the majority of the year to accumulate enough interest to achieve the standard federal threshold ($6,700 for married couples) for itemized deductions."

Another tax benefit, commonly referred to as the "24-month rollover replacement rule," allows homeowners to defer capital gains indefinitely as long as they move into an equally priced or more expensive home. However, a homebuyer must purchase the new home within 24 months of selling their old home to avoid paying a capital gains tax.

'It's no secret homeowners receive significant tax advantages compared to renters.'

Tim Cranston, vice president regional manager Norwest Mortgage, Inc.

Finally, homeowners over the age of 55 can take advantage of the $125,000 one-time tax-free capital gains exclusion to avoid paying taxes on that portion of their capital gain.

Homeowners not versed on the many tax regulations should consult a tax adviser about available federal or state income tax benefits.

THIS WAY TO WEALTH

Tax free money with Roth IRA unique plan

For anyone who is saving money for retirement, higher education or a new home, Congress has finally provided you with a wonder new tax-free account, a Roth IRA. The Roth IRA was one of the new benefits provided in the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997.

A Roth IRA is unlike any savings accounts that has ever existed. An individual can invest up to $2,000 ($4,000 for husband and wife) per year into this account. Unlike a traditional IRA, there is no tax deduction for this contribution, but all the money grows on a tax-deferred basis and you can withdraw all of your money tax-free. Individuals with an annual adjusted gross income below $90,000 ($150,000 for joint filers) can qualify.

Roth IRA's are primarily used for retirement savings, but there are many "qualified" ways to withdraw money tax-free before retirement.

These are:

1. higher education expenses;
2. qualified first time home buyer;
3. qualified medical care expenses or health insurance premiums;
4. age 59.5 years or older;
5. substantially equal payments based upon life expectancy;
6. death or disability of account holder.

If you withdraw from your Roth IRA before age 59.5 for any reason other than the above, your original principal will be considered the first amount withdrawn and therefore, not taxable (you have already paid taxes on this amount). Any of the earnings withdrawn before age 59.5 except for the above items will be taxable at your regular tax rate plus you will pay a 10 percent penalty.

The government will allow you to convert any of your existing IRA accounts into Roth IRA's, thus making them tax-free, as well. However, before converting you should be aware that the value of the existing account would become taxable.

You will have four years in which to pay the taxes and can only qualify for this benefit if your adjusted gross income is less than $100,000. You should consider making the conversion if you feel your tax rate will ultimately increase or the idea of tax-free income in retirement is appealing to you.

If you anticipate expenses for higher education or the purchase of a first home (or a new home if you have not been a homeowner for more than two years) you should consider investing in the Roth IRA. Because the growth on your investment is tax-free, it will accumulate much faster than in a taxable account.

For instance, assuming you are in the 28 percent tax bracket, investing $2,000 a year for an 18 year period, with a return of 8 percent, you will have an accumulation of $74,900, as well as tax-free access to these funds. The same money invested in a taxable account would be valued at only $60,424 over the same period.

If you would like to receive a free report on these and other benefits of investing in a Roth IRA, call 564-9371 (outside Chicagoland 1-(800) 542-8289). You can also write 601 Skokie Blvd., Ste. 504, Northbrook, IL 60062.

TAYLOR: Are you a lifter or a leaner on the job?

Leaners say whatever is on their mind. Lifters say what should be said—but tactfully! I had a boss who knew how to be tactful. One Friday afternoon he called me into his office and said, "Don, you're a bright young man. You have great potential. I don't know how this company could ever get along without you."

However, come Monday morning we're going to try." In my next job I learned to be a lifter.

Ten ways to improve your cash flow

When most people hear the term cash flow, they think of a business. But your family's cash flow is as important as that of any business. The Illinois CPA Society of CPAs says there are ways you can improve your cash flow so that you'll have more money to save and use for the things that are important to you. Here are 10 suggestions to implement in the New Year:

1. ADJUST YOUR WITHHOLDING

Far too many people smugly take pride in getting a large refund check from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). What they don't realize is that it's smarter to change your withholding and free up cash for your own use. To do so, ask your employer for a new W-4 and use the worksheet to determine the correct amount of withholding. The extra money you get in each paycheck can be invested so it's you — and not the IRS — that earns interest on your money.

2. KEEP TRACK OF HOW YOU SPEND YOUR MONEY

By keeping a detailed record of where your money goes, you can get a grip on your finances and improve your cash flow. Personal finance software is available that can help you balance your checkbook, track expenses by category, and make year-to-year comparisons.

3. REFINANCE YOUR MORTGAGE

If you're paying above-market rates on your mortgage, refinancing your loan can free up a significant amount of monthly cash. Better yet, see if your lender is willing to modify your mortgage agreement which essentially gets you today's going rate without paying for refinancing costs.

4. RETHINK YOUR BANKING RELATIONSHIP

As the result of bank mergers during recent years, many consumers don't know what service fees they're paying. Carefully review your banking needs and then shop around to learn about the account options different banks offer. The key to cutting the cost of banking is to find a bank that charges the least for the services you use most.

5. SLASH YOUR INSURANCE COSTS

If you're carrying a $100 or $250 deductible on your auto or homeowner's insurance policy, consider upping your deductible to $500. Put the money you save in monthly premium costs away and use it toward the deductible should you need to file a claim.

6. TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR PROPERTY TAXES

In many parts of the country, real estate values have leveled or dropped. If your property tax assessment is outpacing the resale value of your home, consider challenging any increase in the assessed value of your home. Contact your town for instructions on how to go about challenging your assessment.

7. KEEP TRACK OF MISCELLANEOUS DEDUCTIONS

Miscellaneous expenses — including unreimbursed business expenses, professional and union dues, and investment and tax counseling fees — are deductible to the extent that they exceed two percent of your adjusted gross income. To ensure that you don't overlook a tax deduction, add up all qualified expenses. Remember, the less you pay in taxes, the more you improve your cash flow.

8. REDUCE YOUR CREDIT CARD DEBT

It makes little sense to pay the typical credit card rates of 17 or 18 percent when there are other options. If your credit card debt is having a negative effect on your cash flow, consider taking out a home equity loan at a lower interest rate to pay off your credit card balances. In general, interest payments on home equity debt are deductible; credit card is not.

9. AUTOMATE YOUR PAYCHECK

Another way to improve your cash flow is to arrange to have your paycheck — and other payments you receive regularly, like government and dividend checks — deposited directly to your bank account. You'll save a trip to the bank, get your money sooner, and avoid waiting for your check to clear.

10. CHANGE OLD HABITS

Think about what you are spending money on before you spend it. Bring lunch to work instead of buying it...borrow library books instead of buying new ones...make phone calls when rates are lower. Even small changes such as these will help you improve your cash flow and make strides toward a more secure financial life.

The Illinois CPA Society is the state professional association representing over 26,000 certified public accountants throughout Illinois. For information on additional CPA Society programs, events, products and services, individuals can visit the Society's Web site at <http://www.icpas.org>.

Architects to lead free public seminar 'Getting the home you really want'

The workshop, entitled "Working With an Architect," will be held at the College of Lake County, Lake Shore Campus, Waukegan and will be led by resourceful residential architects.

Workshop leaders will provide information and answer questions about the role of owner, architect, contractor and building official; the phases of a project from budget to drawings to construction; and tips on choosing an architect, including how to review a portfolio, check references and assess affordability. In addition, seminar participants will view the AIA video "Investing in a Dream: A Guide to Getting the Home You Really Want" and receive reference materials.

The "Working With an Architect" seminar is free and open to the public. Pre-registration is required. For information and to register, call AIA Chicago at (312) 670-7770. ## Money available to assist low-income homebuyers Grayslake-area residents earning less than 60 percent of the city's median income may be eligible for a financial boost toward their dream of homeownership.

The Norwest Homeownership Assistance Program (NHAP)—which provides up to $2,000, or 5 percent of the total mortgage to assist eligible low- and very low-income homebuyers obtain closing costs or down payment funds toward a home mortgage—received a $500,000 grant from the Federal Home Loan Bank (FHLB) of Des Moines to support its nationwide initiatives.

"This program allows many of the nation's low-income borrowers to achieve the American dream of homeownership," said Tim Cranston, vice president regional manager for the Grayslake area of Norwest Mortgage. "The nationwide demand for the NHAP program exemplifies the growing need for affordable housing solutions."

Under NHAP guidelines, if a borrower's income is between 50 and 60 percent of the area median income, Norwest Mortgage will match $2 for every $1 the borrower contributes, up to a maximum of $2,000. If the borrower's income is less than or equal to 50 percent of the area median income, he/she is eligible for a $2,000 contribution toward closing costs or as a down payment. A borrower's contributions may come from personal funds, grants or gifts.

Cranston said since the program's inception in August of 1995, nearly 1,000 families have been served through this program, totaling more than $1.8 million in NHAP contributions, and leveraging nearly $58 million in first mortgage financing. With the new Federal Home Loan Bank grant, Cranston said Norwest expects to make nearly 255 additional loans, or approximately $14 million in first mortgage financing.

"Norwest Mortgage's commitment to expanding affordable housing opportunities is commendable," said Thurman C. "Sam" Connell, Home Loan Bank president. "We are pleased to continue to play an active role in the Norwest Homeownership Assistance Program. Programs such as this one are vital to the continued economic growth of communities."

NHAP contributions are awarded on a first come, first served basis and will continue until Federal Home Loan Bank grant funds are exhausted. Interested applicants should contact their local Norwest Mortgage branch for an application.

Norwest Mortgage, Inc. and Norwest Bank Iowa, N.A., administer the NHAP program allocation.

Based in Des Moines, Iowa, Norwest Mortgage, Inc., is a subsidiary of Norwest Corporation. It is the nation's leading originator and servicer of residential mortgages. With more than 750 stores in all 50 states, Norwest Mortgage operates the largest mortgage lending network in the country and provides funding for approximately one of every 15 homes financed in the United States.

Smart ways to borrow money from yourself

The best place to look for a little financial help might be in the mirror. Quite often, your own resources can provide the money you need to see you through a cash crunch, points out the Illinois CPA Society. Since loans against your resources are secured by your assets, this type of borrowing arrangement tends to be inexpensive and hassle free.

The loan of choice for homeowners

For most homeowners, a home equity loan or line of credit is likely to be the cheapest source of credit. With a home equity credit line, you draw against your approved line of credit by writing a check. You pay interest only when you access your credit line generally at an adjustable rate that is indexed to prime. A home equity loan lets you borrow a predetermined amount of money at a fixed rate and requires that you pay back the loan in installments over a specific term. The amount you can borrow is based on the market value of your home, less what you still owe on your first mortgage.

Another selling point in favor of home equity borrowing is that interest on up to $100,000 of a home equity loan is tax deductible. But you put your home at risk. If you default on your loan, you could lose your home.

Retirement funds to the rescue

Most employers allow you to borrow half the money in your 401(k) retirement plan, up to $50,000. Unlike hardship withdrawals which require that you demonstrate serious financial need, you can generally borrow against your 401(k) with no questions asked. Because the loan is secured by your retirement funds, the interest rate is almost always lower than you'd pay elsewhere. You typically have five years to repay the loan (longer if you're using the money to buy a home) and, in most cases, the payments are deducted from your paycheck. Since the interest you pay goes back into your account, you are essentially paying yourself interest.

Be aware that if you should leave your job, the balance you owe on your loan becomes due immediately. If you don't repay it, the loan is treated as a withdrawal, which means you'll have to pay taxes on the outstanding balance and a ten percent penalty if you're under age 59 1/2.

Life Insurance as a backup

Borrowing against the cash value of your whole life and certain other cash-value types of life insurance can provide easy access to money at rates that are lower than most other forms of debt—perhaps as low as 5 or 6 percent on some older policies. But there are drawbacks to borrowing against your policy. First, if there is an outstanding balance at your death, that amount is deducted from the policy's face value and your heirs receive less than you intended when you purchased the policy. Second, the interest rate you would normally earn on the cash value is reduced on the portion that is used as loan collateral. In effect, that loss of interest increases the cost of your loan.

Margin loans for savvy investors

If you're cash poor, but have a sizable investment portfolio, a margin loan is another way you can borrow from yourself. Using your securities as collateral, you can typically borrow up to 50 percent of the current market value of your stocks and up to 90 percent of Treasury holdings. Although margin loans are most often used to buy investments, the proceeds can be used for any purpose. The advantage of borrowing against your stocks is the low interest rate charged by most brokerage firms. Another benefit is that you can repay margin loans a quickly or as slowly as you like. (Note that, in general, interest is not tax deductible when margin loans are used for purposes other than purchasing investments.)

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Find a good broker who works for a good broker/dealer

Investors often ask which is more important: finding a good broker or finding a good broker-dealer.

There's no reason you can't have both. In fact, choosing one without regard for the other wouldn't be very smart.

The broker-dealer, or investment firm, executes your transactions, receives money, holds securities, issues statements and much more. This is the "back office." You never see most of the people who carry out this work.

They are the silent "partners" who keep things going. The better they perform their work, the less you have to worry about. A good broker-dealer is an important part of your financial team.

Your broker, however, is the person with whom you communicate. Almost all your dealings are with your broker. This is the person who helps you define goals, select investments and make changes when appropriate. Ideally, your broker is as close to you as your physician or attorney.

There are at least three things you should expect from your broker:

1. Intelligence. Investing is not for dummies, no matter what the best-selling books say. Investment products are complicated. Putting them together in a successful financial strategy demands more than basic knowledge.

2. Action. Investing is not a wait-and-see game. Research must be done, rational decisions must be made, and then action should be taken. It's the responsibility of a good broker to help you make those decisions and act prudently.

3. Honesty. If your broker isn't honest, it doesn't matter if he's intelligent or action-oriented. If you suspect dishonesty, run—don't walk—to the nearest exit.

He's missed very much but his memories are so dear
That deep in our heart
he will always be near.
Love your family

Sometimes an old-fashioned song
Brings us a thought of you;
Sometimes a flower as we pass along,
Or a sky that is azure blue;
Or a silver lining in the clouds,
When the sun is peeping through.
All of these things, make us think of you.

SPRING EMPLOYMENT OUTLOOK

March 13, 1998

Lakeland Newspapers C15

Lake County's biggest job fair slated for May 28

More than 180 employers will recruit for full-time, part-time, seasonal and professional jobs at the May 28 JobMarketPlace '98, an employment fair for Lake County jobseekers. Expected to be the biggest job fair in Lake County this year, the event will be held from 1 to 7 p.m. in the physical educational center, Building 7, at the College of Lake County, 19351 West Washington St., Grayslake.

Hosted by 13 Lake County community organizations, businesses and social service agencies, the employment fair is free and open to the public. While the event is primarily designed for job seekers, it is open to anyone who wants to change their career, explore a new career, learn about different job options, obtain information about different companies or get job leads. Jobseekers are encouraged to bring resumes; some employers may conduct on-site interviews.

Employers represented at the fair will include manufacturing, insurance, pharmaceutical, banks, government, education, fast foods, restaurants, hotels, temporary employment agencies, hospitals and more. Employers will be available to discuss training opportunities and educational requirements for different jobs. JobMarketPlace '98 will also include a series of workshops prior to the job fair that will benefit both employers and job seekers.

Workshops for job seekers will be held from 1 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 21. They include "How to Work a Job Fair," "Resume Review," "Internet Job Search," "Dress for Success," "Effective Interviewing" and "Career Decisions." Workshops are free and open to the public. An all-day conference will be offered for employers, focusing on recruitment strategies, technology and business trends and practices.

The employment fair proved successful last year for both employers and job seekers. The fair set a new attendance record last year by drawing nearly 3,000 job seekers and 180 employers. Among the 60 employers (out of 180) responding to last year's follow-up survey, many cited recruitment as their primary reason for attending the job fair. For complete information on JobMarketPlace '98, call the College of Lake County Career and Placement Services at 543-2059.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search...
I am writing this letter following an interview I have just returned from. I have been interviewing for the past two months for various positions that I have called on through the newspaper, and have not been fortunate enough as yet to come across the one position that I feel I am suited for. While in the midst of interviewing, I have found on several occasions I am faced with questions at the end of the interview that have left me either tongue-tied, or babbling an answer out in hopes that I have said the right thing that the interviewer wants to hear. The question: "Do you have any questions?". I hope that you can tell me if there are certain questions when asked this, that you do or do not want to ask the interviewer. Thank you for your help.
L.K. - Lake Villa

Dear L.K.,
First, it always helps to do research on a company, whether it be through your local library, chamber of commerce, internet, or through people who you may come across that have been or are currently employed through the company. The more you can find out about a company's line of business, the more apt you are to feel comfortable about the interview. I say this to you because after all, one question you never want to ask is, "What does your company do?"

When or if the question, "Do you have any questions?" is posed to you, never say NO! But be sure that the questions you are about to ask are educated ones. For instance, Never ask... "How many vacation and sick days does your company offer per year?", as this will lead the interviewer to feel that that is the most important thing on your mind, is how much time you WON'T have to work.

"How long does it usually take a person in this position to be promoted?" ...is another question that would make it seem as though you are not really interested in this position, but you'll take it now if you have to and it means possibilities in the future.

Avoid questions such as, "When can I start?" ...This can be taken to mean that you are a wee bit too sure of yourself and can be looked upon as obnoxious by some. Also, you will want to avoid, "What is the starting salary?" ...Always wait until an offer has been made.

So what do you ask? Well...hopefully you have done some home-work on the company you are applying for. Perhaps you have become familiar with a specific product line that they manufacture, or are accustomed to a certain service that the company provides. Questions that are a bit more open ended... "Has your company always been based out of Chicago?" "Who would this position be reporting directly to?" These questions tend to put it back in the interviewer's court to speak further about the company, and possibly creating more questions you may have. The key to a good interview... Research!
